Former JDC Head Named to County Post

ANDREW M. MAZE

A former superintendent of teachers for the juvenile Diagnostic Center, Columbus, has been appointed Juvenile Officer for Pickaway County, Judge Guy Cline announced today.

Andrew M. Maze, 829 1/2 Atwater Ave., replaces Norton Barnes, who resigned Feb. 1, as head of the juvenile probation department of the county court.

Maze is married to the former Ethel Ramsey of Circleville and they have one daughter. Mrs. Maze is a teacher at Scioto Township Elementary School.

The new juvenile officer holds a BS degree from Rio Grande College, received his Master's from Marshall University in West Virginia and is currently working on his PhD. He has done graduate work at Ohio University and expects to receive his doctorate from Tulsa University, Oklahoma.

HE HAS an excellent background in the field of education. He is a former principal of Murray City High School in Hocking County and has served as principal of Amanda-Clearcreek Elementary School.

Maze served a two-year stint with the U.S. Navy aboard a hospital ship.

He is a member of the Church of Christ and belongs to the Masonic Lodge.

Maze accepted the local position as a "challenge" in working with the youth of Pickaway County. His appointment was effective Feb. 20.

Marriage 'Of Mercy' Binds Pair

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "This is a marriage of mercy. I know it means a great deal to him to feel he has someone who wishes to be with him always."

With this explanation, silent screen star Mary MacLaren was led Tuesday to blind, crippled World War I veteran Robert S. Coleman.

Coleman, 65, a former lion tamer, "is an interesting man and companionable. He tells me he loves me dearly," said the onetime film star, now 65 and silver-haired.

"I appreciate his gratitude for my care — and he appreciates my companionship to the extent that he thought it would be better if we were married."

Miss MacLaren said she met Coleman three years ago after a friend told her of a blind veteran who had been beaten and robbed in his hotel room, was hospitalized and had no place to go.

"I brought him home and he has been at my house ever since," she said.

Board Approves Amended Version Of Annex Move

An amended petition calling for the annexation of land to the Village of Ashville was approved yesterday by Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners.

The amended petition deletes six properties from the original proposal submitted to the Commission. The solons' action clears the way for annexation of about 120 acres northeast of Ashville, including the Teays Valley High School site.

Owners of the six deleted lots had voiced opposition to the proposal during a public hearing conducted here Feb. 10. The area removed comprises about 2 1/2 acres, according to Ashville officials.

The commissioners indicated last week they would approve the amended version, pending receipt of necessary documents listing the change. The official action was given yesterday on a unanimous vote.

THE annexation area generally is bounded by Route 752 on the north, Lockbourne Eastern Road on the east, Center Alley on the west and the Ashville corporation limits on the south.

In other key action, the solons approved a motion calling for the erection of a base station for a countywide fire radio communications system.

Additional agenda matters included the signing of a contract providing for the preparation of plans for remodeling the base of the Pickaway County Jail.

Ralph Crook, Lancaster architect, will draw the plans. The project has been designed to provide space for the sheriff's offices which are now located in the Courthouse.

YESTERDAY'S busy legislative session also included the approval of a resolution authorizing the County Engineer to purchase necessary materials to prime specified roads in the county. The highways listed, and their mileage were: No. 3 (1.52); No. 26 (2.01); No. 160 (4.81); No. 125 (1.84); No. 117 (5.83).

All the highways listed are classified as state highway haul roads. The resolution noted that the State Highway Department will place bituminous surface on the sections described this spring.

Ray Anderson, deputy sealer for the county, was authorized to attend a State Sealers Assn. meeting Mar. 23-24 in Reynoldsburg Registration and expenses amounting to $25 were approved.

The speed study was conducted by County Engineer Henry McCrady's department. Findings described the present statutory speed of 60 miles per hour there unrealistic.

A request for speed control measures along the road was presented to the Commission several months ago by residents of Jefferson Addition.

The section of road involved extends eastward from Route 1 to the Circleville-Kingston Pike. The length is about 1.2 miles.

A FINAL decision on whether or not the speed limit there will be reduced will rest with the Ohio Director of Highways, results of McCrady's study and the Commission's opinion will be forwarded to the appropriate state office.

Standard signs denoting safe speed limits will be posted on the road if the request is approved by the State Highway Department.

U.S. Is Seen Tightening Laos Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department seems to be trying to tighten secrecy around U.S. air operations against the Communists in Laos.

It took four days, with considerable prodding from newsmen, for the Pentagon to acknowledge Tuesday that Air Force Maj. Robert F. Ronca, 41, of Norristown, Pa., had been lost over Laos "on a routine mission."

In all, seven U.S. Navy and Air Force jets have been identified officially as downed in Laos since U.S. air operations began over that vital Southeast Asian country. Five of the seven pilots were rescued. The other two, including Ronca, were killed. Their bodies were recovered.

Although the U.S. government won't talk about it, there have been strong indications that U.S. jets have been flying repeated reconnaissance and bomb-rocket missions against Communist targets in Laos — many more such missions than have been admitted.

Officials insisted, however, that no casualties have been covered up — that all those lost have been publicly accounted for.

dio communications system. A request for the facility was made by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and representatives from various volunteer fire departments in the county.

The base station will cost the county about $1,150, according to estimates. Plans call for a 35-foot tower and other essential equipment to be set up at the sheriff's department.

The separate fire departments will provide the necessary radio equipment for their own trucks. All units in this area have expressed a need for a countywide communications system.

Additional agenda matters included the signing of a contract providing for the preparation of plans for remodeling the base of the Pickaway County Jail.

Ralph Crook, Lancaster architect, will draw the plans. The project has been designed to provide space for the sheriff's offices which are now located in the Courthouse.

YESTERDAY'S busy legislative session also included the approval of a resolution authorizing the County Engineer to purchase necessary materials to prime specified roads in the county. More Selma Protests Are In Making SELEMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. leaving this racial hot spot temporarily, has called for continued street marches by Negroes in their intensive five-week drive to gain voting power here.

"We are going to have to march some more this week," said King at a church mass meeting Tuesday night shortly after an abbreviated march by more than 200 Negro students and children.

The students were summoned to another meeting today, and the Rev. James Bevel, left in charge of the drive, said there would be more demonstrations.

King, who left Tuesday night for Atlanta and a scheduled trip to California, said the campaign which has brought more than 3,000 arrests in Selma and nearby Martin would result in congressional approval of stronger laws on voting rights.

"I have been in touch with Washington," the stocky Negro leader told the mass meeting at Brown's Chapel A.M.E. church, site of almost nightly rallies.

"And I think we are getting near now to the new voting bill. I am optimistic that the bill will be presented by the administration in the next few days."

King said he was "confident that the measure would get through Congress 'to the eternal credit of Selma, Alabama.'"

U.S., Soviet Ships Eye Each Other

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While the U.S. Navy conducts its amphibious war games off the Southern California coast, the sea-going Soviet tug Arban cruises quietly about the scene.

While the Arban cruises, so does the destroyer escort USS Lowe, tracking the Arban with radar from a distance of several miles, the Navy said Tuesday.

The 140-foot Arban appeared off Oregon last month and has been under Navy surveillance since.

The Arban's visit here, reportedly for ocean-bottom surveys, coincided with the beginning of the naval maneuvers, Exercise Silver Lance.

A Navy source said the Arban can watch the widely publicized maneuvers from outside the three-mile limit.

A COLD WAR? — A photographer stands in front of the burned-out headquarters of the Black Muslims in Harlem after an explosion and fire wrecked the building. Authorities believe the attack may be part of a move to "avenge" the assassination of Negro extremist Malcolm X.

Sheriff's Department Called To 6 Accidents on Icy Roads

The Pickaway County Sheriff's department investigated a total of six automobile accidents between 8 a. m. and noon today.

Included in the accidents was one in which four women, all passengers of the same car, were injured, and one involving five cars.

At 9:30 a.m. an auto driven by Mrs. Delores Staton, 39, Ironton, went out of control on icy Route 23 two miles south of Circleville.

Taken to Berger Hospital for treatment were Mrs. William Cooper, Mrs. Carl Milhouse, Mrs. Gene Mooney and Mrs. Paul Wickle Jr.

The extent of their injuries was not immediately determined. Deputy Sheriff John Wolford said, and they were held for observation at the hospital.

The car was extensively damaged.

The five-car accident occurred on Route 23 north of Circleville near the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad overpass shortly before noon.

In other accidents investigated by the department, a car driven by George Hamilton, 20, Route 3, crashed into a building at the intersection of Route 56 and Mound St., just east of the City Limits. Hamilton was not injured although extensive damage was incurred to both the car and the building.

Shortly before noon temperatures rose above freezing and the ice began to disappear. The forecast called for rain to continue, with rising temperatures, throughout the day and night.

The rain is to change to snow Thursday becoming windy and turning much colder. Forecast low for tonight 35-40. High tomorrow is expected to be in the low 20s by mid-afternoon.

Snow, Sleet Expected To Come to Ohio Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Precipitation in the form of snow, freezing rain and sleet was expected to hit Ohio today, with northern counties receiving snow accumulations up to four inches.

Most of the state was dry during the night, with only Cincinnati receiving some very light freezing rain. Temperatures ranged from 13 degrees at Mansfield to 27 at Cincinnati.

A low pressure area centered over the Lower Mississippi River Valley was to carry today's precipitation to Ohio. Heavy snow warnings were posted for northern sections of the state, with southern areas expected to receive a mixture of snow, freezing rain and sleet.

Temperatures today were expected to remain below freezing except near the Ohio River. Snow flurries and colder temperatures were forecast for Thursday.

Severe wintry weather hampered much of the nation's midsection today with some areas reporting the worst storm

A truck loaded with pulp wood bound for the Container Corporation of America plant went out of control on East Ohio St. The logs were dumped into the fence at the General Electric plant. The truck was not damaged.

Numerous reports of automobiles in ditches were received by the department.

Community Is Gripped By Icy Rain

With little warning, a freezing rain glided streets, highways and sidewalks here this morning, creating hazardous conditions for motorists and pedestrians alike.

A rash of accidents kept local law enforcement agencies busy throughout the morning. Most accidents were minor and involved only property damage.

City police, the state patrol and sheriff's deputies were still completing accident reports at 1 p. m. However, each department reported at least six accidents each and one involved five separate vehicles. It occurred on Route 23, north of Circleville.

In the policy area, Johnson feels it is enough to point to the Senate-House resolution passed last August and to his own past statements, which have been couched in general phrases about helping the South Vietnamese defend their independence in the face of encroachment from the north.

The resolution, passed 414 to 0 in the House and 88 to 2 in the Senate, said:

"The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The resolution was approved on Aug. 7, just two days after a U.S. air raid on targets in North Viet Nam in retaliation for attacks by Communist PT boats on U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off Viet Nam.

The President does not want to get into specifics of military policy. He is mindful of the controversial 1950 speech in which Dean Acheson, then secretary of state, suggested South Korea of the season.

The snow belt, with amounts ranging up to more than eight inches in northeast Kansas and South Dakota, extended from central Texas to the southern Great Lakes region. The snow was expected to spread from the middle Mississippi Valley to the middle and north Atlantic coast.

Gusty winds, up to 60 miles in many parts of Oklahoma, caused much drifting throughout the snow-covered region. Highway travel was slowed and schools were closed in some areas.

Heavy snow warnings were issued by the Weather Bureau for southeast Lower Michigan, northwest Indiana and most of Illinois through Missouri.

Frigid air covered the north-central region and cold weather knifed southward into Texas. Temperatures dropped to near 30 degrees below zero in South Dakota. Below-zero marks were reported in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Colorado.

French-Russian Viet Parley Set

LBJ Doubts Now Is Time To Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, watching with interest the efforts abroad to promote a Viet Nam settlement, is not convinced the Communists are ready for serious negotiations.

Johnson, who sticks to a stated willingness to entertain a settlement guaranteeing the integrity and independence of South Viet Nam, has been reluctant to talk in detail about American policy and intentions in that part of the world because:

1. He wants to retain complete flexibility of action, in the military and diplomatic spheres, by avoiding any statement that would tie his hands or lead the Communists to believe they were free to take certain actions without risking counterblows.

2. Even if Johnson thought the Communists were ready for settlement talks, which he doesn't, he is convinced it would be harmful to spell out in advance the terms acceptable to the United States, believing these might be rejected almost automatically and thus lessen prospects for an eventual political solution.

Johnson is watching closely the efforts of Britain, France and the Vatican to promote a Viet Nam peace.

A State Department spokesman said Tuesday that the United States has been in consultation with Britain on U.S. views about the possibility of a peaceful settlement. Discussions have also been held with the Soviet Union, the spokesman said.

Johnson has been reluctant to encourage efforts of other nations, not only because of his skepticism about Communist willingness to talk, but because he fears premature negotiations and attendant publicity could result in a definite psychological setback, if nothing worse, should they fail amid high hopes.

Johnson has been the target of some criticism because he has not made a detailed Viet Nam policy statement or set forth acceptable settlement terms.

In the policy area, Johnson feels it is enough to point to the Senate-House resolution passed last August and to his own past statements, which have been couched in general phrases about helping the South Vietnamese defend their independence in the face of encroachment from the north.

The resolution, passed 414 to 0 in the House and 88 to 2 in the Senate, said:

"The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

was not considered vital to American security. This speech, perhaps coincidentally, was followed by the Communist invasion of South Korea.

Johnson recalls, too, the nation's self-imposed and self-proclaimed ban on the use of nuclear weapons in Korea, as well as its policy of avoiding military action against the Communist Chinese "sanctuary" in Manchuria.

The chief executive believes that whenever a nation signals to the rest of the world a refusal to employ all available military power, it has weakened not only its freedom of action militarily but its bargaining power at the conference table.

Solon Raps Negotiations

'Capitulation' Seen as Result

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, who recently made an inspection trip to South Viet Nam, said today negotiation with the Communists under present conditions would be capitulation.

The New Jersey Democrat, a member of the Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees, said, "If Peking and Hanoi remain intractable in their right to subvert a free government in violation of our existing agreements, what is there to negotiate except the abandonment of freedom?"

It was learned from a congressional source that while Gallagher initiated the idea for the speech, he prepared key parts of it in consultation with State Department officials at the highest level. It therefore was viewed as representing an indirect reply by the administration to some who have been urging a course of negotiation in the Viet Nam crisis.

Tuesday Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., assailed proposals for disengagement in Viet Nam as "new isolationism."

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and George McGovern, D-S.D., are among those who have urged a peaceful settlement on the stepped-up conflict.

Gallagher's speech was prepared for delivery in the House today.

He said, "It is difficult to accept the reasoning of those who advocate ... a so-called negotiated peace in Viet Nam. It is even more difficult to rationalize the statements of those responsible citizens who urge withdrawal from South Viet Nam. This must view in the harsh light of political realism as a first step towards ultimate abandonment of the free nations of Southeast Asia to Communist control."

Gallagher added: "Certainly we must keep open the door to negotiation, but shall we fall on our knees and hammer on a door that was slammed in our face? If we are not to negotiate in fear, let us not negotiate either from a position of 'peace at any price'."

He asked: "Can anyone seriously believe that neutralization of South Viet Nam would not mean immediate Communist takeover there and a new battle beginning in Thailand the next day?"

Red China, U.S. Envoys Parley in Warsaw

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Ambassadors of Communist China and the United States met today in a session that diplomats here said could influence the crisis in Southeast Asia.

U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot and Chinese envoy Wang Kuo-chuan came face to face in the 126th meeting of the ambassadorial talks that began in 1953 in Geneva. It was their first session since Nov. 25 last year.

The American and Chinese embassies in Warsaw have an agreement to maintain strict secrecy about the talks.

DeGaulle OKs Soviet Plan

Southeast Asian Peace Is Sought

PARIS (AP) — France announced today it has agreed to work with the Soviet Union in pressing for an international conference to settle the conflict in Viet Nam. The Soviet Union took the initiative in making the proposal.

Diplomatic sources in Moscow said the Soviet Union would seek neutralization of South Viet Nam at such a conference, a course France has advocated for North Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos as well.

President Johnson was said to be unconvinced that the Communists are ready for serious negotiations and he wants to retain flexibility of action, both diplomatically and militarily.

Nevertheless, U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot met with Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Kuo-chuan in Warsaw, Poland, for an hour and 50 minutes and it was presumed the war in Viet Nam was discussed. Neither would confirm this after the meeting broke up.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte announced the French decision to cooperate with the Soviet Union on an international conference.

Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov called at Elysee Palace for a 20-minute discussion Tuesday with President Charles de Gaulle and the question of Viet Nam.

Thant Sure U.S. Can Quit 'Gracefully'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant disclosed today he had been engaged in private discussions for some time with the United States and other parties to the Viet Nam conflict and had made concrete proposals aimed at a negotiated settlement.

He declined to disclose the nature of his proposals, but told a news conference he was confident a formula could be found which would end the fighting and enable the United States to withdraw gracefully once stability has been achieved.

Thant said he did not advocate an immediate U.S. military withdrawal. He said, however, that he had the "greatest respect for the great American leader, President Johnson, whose wisdom, moderation and sensibility to public opinion is well-known."

"I am sure that the great American people, if it only knows the true facts, will agree with me that further bloodshed is unnecessary and that political and diplomatic negotiations alone can create conditions that will enable the United States to withdraw gracefully from that part of the world," he added.

He Didn't Trust Bank; Hoard Lost

STEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Robert Bridges, a steel worker, told police he had been saving for 20 years and had acquired $35,500 — but he didn't trust the banks. The money, in $50 and $20 bills was in a paper bag in the rumble seat of his 1938-model car.

Bridges checked on it every day on his way to and from work at the Weirton Steel Co. in nearby Weirton, W. Va., he said. He found the money missing Feb. 6. Police disclosed Tuesday that they had been conducting a quiet investigation, but no clues to the thief's identity have been found.

Egypt Gives Big Welcome To Red German Chieftain

CAIRO (AP) — East German President Walter Ulbricht was welcomed today by President Gamal Abdel Nasser on a visit that could lead to a diplomatic break between West Germany and much of the Arab world.

A 21-gun salute boomed out as Ulbricht's train rolled into Cairo's flag-bedecked station from Alexandria, where he had landed earlier in the day.

The shouts of greeting reverberated in the glass-roofed station as Ulbricht descended from the train and shook hands with Nasser.

Warships blew their sirens and Soviet-built MIG fighters screamed overhead as Ulbricht descended the gangplank of the East German liner Voelkerfreundschaft in Alexandria for a greeting from Vice President Hassan Ibrahim.

"Welcome Ulbricht" and "Man of peace", chanted masses of workers assembled along the waterfront.

Ulbricht and Ibrahim walked on a red carpet to the nearby railroad station and boarded a special train for Cairo, where President Gamal Abdel Nasser had prepared a festive welcome for the East German Communist leader.

East German flags fluttered over Cairo and the emblem of the Communist regime decorated the Cairo railroad station.

Nasser scheduled a banquet tonight in Ulbricht's honor. Official talks between the two leaders start Thursday.

Ulbricht's schedule calls for three formal conferences with Nasser, two official banquets, speeches and trips to the Aswan Dam, Luxor, Liberation Province and the Sheikh El Kom textiles center built by the East Germans.

The Egyptians greeted Ulbricht with the 21-gun salute normal for heads of state.

The West German government had implied it would break off diplomatic relations with Nasser's United Arab Republic if Ulbricht was received as a head of state. Bon also threatened to cut off its multimillion-dollar economic aid program in Egypt.

Nasser countered with charges that Bon was secretly supplying arms to Israel, arch enemy of the Arab world. West Germany suspended its arms shipments, but when that provoked an outcry in Israel and the United States, it offered to supply $16 million in lieu of the undelivered arms. Egypt said that also constituted a hostile act.

Western diplomats here feared Ulbricht's visit would open a wedge for East Germany into the rest of the Arab world.

Fire Destroys House on Walnut St.

Flames swept through the home of Charles Roote, 379 Walnut St. shortly before noon today. The interior of the house was destroyed.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Roote and her daughter at approximately 11 a.m. It started in the flue of a coal burning stove in the front room.

Mrs. Roote and her daughter at first tried to battle the flames themselves. They were forced to summon the Circleville Fire Department when the flames soon spread out of control.

Although the outer shell of the house is still standing, the interior and much of the contents were destroyed by fire, smoke and water.

The four-room home and contents were partially insured, a member of the family told Circleville firefighters.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court agreed today that a Dayton man sentenced to die for killing his wife is entitled to a new trial.

The 6-0 decision affirmed the 2nd District Court of Appeals in reversing the first-degree murder conviction of James M. Gikerson for the slaying of his wife, Treva, in their apartment in Dayton, Dec. 2, 1961.

The appellate court said that the element of deliberate and premeditated malice in the slaying was not proved beyond a reasonable doubt in the three-judge trial court.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Theodore Karle, working his first day as a bank teller, had to deal with a holdup man Tuesday.

The robber escaped with $4,493 from the branch bank of the Central National Bank at 6610 Detroit Ave. NW. After approaching Robert P. Bittel, manager of the branch, holding his hand in a brown paper bag as if concealing a gun.

Bittel walked behind the counter and told Karle to fill a cloth bag handed him by the robber. So Karle put money from a cash drawer into the bag and the robber left.

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany announced today that it has officially invited Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to visit Bonn.

Such invitations usually are not given unless there is good assurance they will be accepted.

But Karl Guenther von Hase, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's spokesman, told newsmen only that Kosygin had thanked West German Ambassador Horst Groppe in Moscow and that an answer is in sight. No date for the visit was mentioned in the announcement.

The invitation was extended at a meeting Tuesday between Groppe and Kosygin.

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The examination of a witness Tuesday in the trial of four men charged with slaying a mountain housewife produced this exchange:

"Who is your father?" an attorney asked.

The witness gave his father's name.

"And who is he?" fired back the lawyer.

"He's my mother's husband."

"Is he deceased?" the attorney asked.

"No, sir," answered the witness.

"Well, where is he?"

"He's dead."

BOSTON (AP) — Physicians attending Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, have expressed satisfaction and optimism over his recovery from major abdominal surgery despite a slight setback in his condition.

The 69-year-old prelate's recovery has been retarded by an asthmatic condition, according to a bulletin issued Tuesday by the chancery office.

A section of the cardinal's intestine was removed in a 3½ hour operation Saturday. The section contained a growth known as polyps.

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, (AP) — Two experts in the treatment of frostbite were called in from a military exercise in central Alaska to help a man who lived 78 hours under an avalanche.

Drs. W.T. Mills and W. Sudgen arrived from Ft. Richardson, near Anchorage, Tuesday to join Dr. James Wilson in attending Einar Myllyla of Winnipeg, Canada, and Kemi, Finland.

Myllyla was uncovered Sunday by a bulldozer smoothing a landing pad for rescue helicopters at the avalanche-demolished Grandview mining camp 30 miles north of Stewart, B.C., he suffered frostbitten arms and legs.

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — Siamese twin girls who were separated surgically last week ate milk and cereal Tuesday.

A Texas Children's Hospital spokesman said Karen and Kimberly Webber were in satisfactory physical condition and an uneventful recovery is expected.

He said Kimberly is now out of the Isolette and Karen is being taken out at intervals. Both are breathing without difficulty, he said.

The girls were visited by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Webber Jr. of Bay City, Tex.

When they were born Dec. 8 the infants were joined from chest to navel. They were separated in a three-hour operation Wednesday. Doctors said they face further plastic surgery.

Hands Off Tourists

American tourists now looking over travel brochures and checking vacation schedules are also keeping a wary eye on their newspapers for the latest word on the U.S. gold drain. That there is a very real link between tourism and international finance may not have occurred to some casual travelers, but it has to Uncle Sam.

Last year, the 1.250 million Americans who visited Europe distributed many more millions of dollars in their travels than the $377 million spent in the United States by 961,000 foreign visitors. Even the government doesn't know what the net loss was in this area of international finance, but it considers it significant enough to cut duty-free imports tourists can bring with them when returning from $150 to $50.

Another proposal, to levy a head tax on every American embarking on a trip to Europe of $50 or $100, has been sidetracked but may be revived.

The tax itself would not make up the current loss, but those who suggest it hope it would help by discouraging some American tourists from going abroad. What they overlook is that tourism is a two-way street. European governments would undoubtedly retaliate.

Anything that will slow tourism is particularly unfortunate at this time because of the success realized in recent years in attracting Europeans in particular, but travelers from all parts of the world, to the United States. Last year, the number of visitors to the U. S. increased 31 per cent over 1963. At least part of this success is attributable to the $4 million a year campaign by the U. S. Travel Service, a division of the Commerce Department.

With the increasing mobility of populations all over the world, the general prosperity of Europe, and the introduction of large numbers of travelers to the beauties of the new world, prospects are extremely favorable for growing armies of visitors to the U.S. each year. In time, the flow of tourist dollars might even be reversed.

Like the decision of the Kennedy administration in 1961 to cut the duty-free allowance of American travelers to $150, the new more drastic cut carries with it a greater prospect of damage to the tourist industry than savings in dollar flow.

Curtailling the U.S. international deficit has become a more urgent necessity as a result of the continuing gold drain and the peculiar behavior of France in deliberately contributing to the instability of the dollar. But tampering with the tourist trade when the government itself spends many times the amount involved in a myriad of overseas programs as a foolishly shortsighted action.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's steel furnaces are the one big question mark in today's prosperous domestic economy. How long will they keep turning out record tonnage?

Will they be cooled down by a strike and if so, when? Or will production be slowed later in the year by overstocking by consumers now?

Steel shipments are rising. But so are new orders. Some mill report orders coming in faster than shipments can rise, so that delivery time is being stretched out. In a few instances there are allocations.

There is talk also of extending the labor contract past the May 1 cutoff date, while the factions of the United Steelworkers of America settle their leadership battle and heal the scars.

Some say this postponement of a possible strike would just encourage more inventory building by consumers, and therefore would mean a bigger letdown after a new labor contract is reached, by whatever means, in the summer or fall.

But many in the industry contend that the inventory buildup is more apparent than real. The metal is being used by manufacturers faster than they had anticipated. And the stockpiles are still skimpy in relation to current production.

It isn't just the steel mills that are being flooded with new orders. Many steel consuming factories also are reporting a big and growing backlog of unfilled orders that would keep them going at full speed for weeks and months ahead, and chewing up any steel stock they might have succeeded in accumulating.

If the economy in general maintains its sprightly pace during the rest of the year, as a growing number are now predicting, steel users will be wanting sizable amounts of the metal well after the May 1 deadline for a possible strike. An extension of the labor contract until union and management are in better position for serious negotiations wouldn't necessarily mean a sudden letdown in demand, as a few fear, or a continued buildup of excess inventory, as others contend.

Some steel users would still be eager to get shipments after May 1 for stockpiling. Even more would be likely to go on ordering in sizable amounts to meet their production needs.

Harriman Is Slated For Mission to Israel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman is expected to go on a special mission to Israel for President Johnson this week.

Officials said Harriman is expected to meet with Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol and other officials on the effect of West Germany's recent cancellation of an arms supply program for Israel. The cancellation followed Egypt's objection to the deal.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Should a cough be stopped with large quantities of cough medicine?

Coughing is nature's protective method of ridding the lungs or the bronchial tubes of an irritant.

There are many different irritants which can produce coughing. A cough may be a reaction from an infection, secretions (such as an accumulation of phlegm), gas fumes or a foreign body somewhere in the respiratory tract.

A cough is a symptom of a condition—not an illness in itself. Since it often performs a valuable protective function, there definitely are times when a cough should be encouraged, rather than suppressed.

It is for this very reason that the underlying cause of a persistent cough should be determined by a physician. Once the cause is known, then your doctor will decide whether or not medicine should be taken to stop the cough.

There are numerous varieties of cough syrups which may be purchased "over the counter." There are also different types of coughs. If the physician feels that a cough medicine would be beneficial, he will choose the particular medication which will be most effective for the specific condition of each individual patient.

What is a tubal pregnancy? Is it possible to complete a pregnancy with such a condition?

In normal conception, the male sperm unites with the female ovum in the uterus (womb). Occasionally, this rendezvous occurs in one of the fallopian tubes, which lead from the ovaries to the uterus.

Tubal pregnancies seldom occur, and are usually short-lived, since the fallopian tube is not large enough and cannot stretch enough to allow the growth of an embryo.

Most often the body itself takes care of the problem by producing a natural miscarriage during the very early stages. In cases where there is no natural miscarriage, a safe surgical procedure is usually performed to prevent any complications.

Full-term tubal pregnancies are said to occur, but these cases are rare—exceedingly rare.

What is meant by right heart and left heart? Can one person have two hearts?

The terms "right heart" and "left heart" are sometimes used by physicians to whom this has a technical meaning.

The terms "right" and "left" apply to the two sides of the heart.

The heart has four chambers—two auricles and two ventricles. There is one auricle and one ventricle on each side of the heart. The chambers on the right pump blood into the lungs to pick up fresh oxygen. The chambers on the left send the oxygenated blood to all parts of the body through the arteries.

Churchillian Voice

By John Chamberlain

Senator Thomas Dodd, Democrat of Connecticut, was flabbergasted the other day when, on a TV program, some quite knowledgeable reporters asked him why the U.S. is in South Vietnam. It seemed to Dodd that people ought to remember there was such a thing as the Truman Doctrine, which, in the early days of the Cold War, had committed the U.S. to offering its protection to small nations being threatened by the Communists. We had gone to the aid of the Iranians, the Greeks, the Turks, and the South Koreans. So why did anyone have to ask: "Why are we mixed up in this Saigon mess?"

Brooding over the short memory of people, Tom Dodd decided that it was time to emphasize what he considers to be the continuity of good Democratic Party doctrine going back to Harry Truman's first foreign policy decisions. He knows that not all his brother Democrats in the Senate still hold to the Truman policy. Morse of Oregon, Gruening of Alaska, Fulbright of Arkansas, have all sidled away from the Truman Doctrine tradition. So it was time for a rousing speech, even at the risk of disrupting the hopes for Democratic harmony in the Senate and a possible LBJ party "consensus" on foreign policy matters.

A Dodd speech is scheduled as this column is being written. I haven't seen an advance copy of it, but I understand that Dodd will break new ground by proposing a vast intensification of political warfare in conjunction with continuing aid to the South Vietnamese in their fight against the Communist Viet Cong. What has impressed Dodd, in his journeys to Africa and other theatres of Cold War guerilla fighting, is the adept use of Communists make of slogans. The slogans are carefully constructed to take advantage of the basic desires of people.

In Vietnam the Communists pose as the prospective unifiers of the country. This stirs something in the hearts of all the Vietnamese, even the North Vietnamese who have fled to the South. So what Dodd proposes is that the U.S. back a united Vietnam, on free terms, with a political warfare campaign designed to publicize it to the utmost. He would also have the U.S. support a Taiwan-tupe land reform program for Vietnam, making limited amounts of acreage available to peasants under easy purchase terms.

"Land for the peasant" could, he thinks, be dramatized in such a way that the phony "free" land program of the Communists, which eventually leads to the slavery of the commune, would be exposed for the lie that it is.

As a third point in his suggested program, Dodd would have the U.S. see to it that every South Vietnamese military officer should get good political war training as part of his education. There are ten or twelve men in Washington, so Dodd insists, who have had a great depth of experience in Vietnam, and who could be counted on to communicate with thousands of people, from the Buddhists to the Catholics, if they were only sent back to Saigon and made available to General Maxwell Taylor. These men could do the groundwork in preparing for sound political war training to beat the Communists at their own subtle games.

Dodd does not believe that the Communists are necessarily on the verge of winning in South Vietnam. In the past three years (1962-64) the South Vietnamese forces have killed 59,000 Viet Cong Communist fighters, with a loss to their own government side of only 18,000 killed. The South Vietnamese have taken more prisoners than the Viet Cong. And there have been 17,000 desertions from the Viet Cong ranks. These figures do not add up to a picture of a lackluster South Vietnamese army. Since 1.8 million North Vietnamese have sought refuge in the South from the Red government of Ho Chi Minh, it must be a myth that the South Vietnamese cause has no appeal. If the anti-Communist line can't be drawn in Vietnam, how can we hope to draw it in Malaysia or Thailand?

By the time this appears in print Tom Dodd should have emerged as the spokesman for Truman Doctrine continuity within the Democratic Party. It will be interesting to watch whether the Dodd "Churchillian" line carries more weight with President Johnson than the "Munichism" of some of the other Democratic Senators.

175 Attend Hedges Chapel Silver Anniversary Tea

Mrs. Judd Dresbach presented the program for the Silver Anniversary Tea sponsored by the Woman's Society of Hedges Chapel Methodist Church.

There were 175 women present for the event held Saturday at the church. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums, calla lilies and tall white tapers in silver candelabra highlighted the decorations.

Mrs. Martin Cromley and Mrs. Roland Featheringham opened the program with an organ and piano duo, "Thine Alone". Mrs. Art Deal Jr., dressed in colonial style, played two accordion solos as she had at the first program 25 years ago. Her numbers were "I Believe" and "Come to Sorrento".

A group from Walnut Twp. School, Debbie Cook, Sandra Perrill and Debbie Hoffines, presented a clarinet trio, playing "Elfin Dance". They were accompanied by Mrs. David Dill. Christine and Claire Hansen sang the songs, "Two Little Girls in Blue" and "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard" their mother, Mrs. Rosemary Fisher Hansen, had sung at one of the early teas. Mrs. Ralph Dunkel served as accompanist.

Mrs. Joseph Peters recalled the 1942 program and sang a solo, "Somebody Bigger Than You and I", with Mrs. Martin Cromley at the piano. A second group from William Pangburn's music department at Walnut School, Linda Holley, James Barr, Scott Barr and Mike Thomas, played an instrumental number, "Canzonetta".

Mrs. Ralph Dunkel and Mrs. Donald Collins recalled the past with vocal duets, "The Royal Minuet" and "This Land is Your Land".

Twenty years ago Mrs. Pat LaRue, the former Miss Elsie Cromley, presented a piano solo entitled, "Impromptu" and again this year repeated the selection.

The Metta-Larks, Mrs. Chester Peters, Mrs. David Dill, Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh and Mrs. Neil Barr, sang a group of songs, including, "He's My King", "For Me and My Gal", "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella", and "Some Golden Day-broke". They wore old fashioned dresses and hats.

The program closed with the entire group singing, "God Bless America". Guests were greeted at the door by Miss J. Butt and Miss Ann Peters, costumed as George and Martha Washington.

Presidents of the Hedges Chapel Woman's Society since its organization in 1940 were presented corsages by this year's president, Mrs. William Plum Jr. They were Mrs. Homer Reber, Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. Arthur Sark, Mrs. Charles Dresbach, Mrs. Donald Collins, Mrs. Laurence Heffner and Mrs. Judd Dresbach.

Refreshments were served from a linen covered table, centered with a white floral arrangement and white tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Ray Plum and Mrs. William Plum presided at the tea table.

Republican Women Hold Luncheon Meet

The Pickaway County Women's Republican Club held a George Washington covered dish luncheon meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. Elmer Siegle, Ashville. Patriotic decorations were used for the first club meeting of 1965.

Mrs. H. O. Caldwell conducted the meeting. Mrs. Donald H. Watt lead the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag and Mrs. Eugene P. Hanson gave the opening prayer. Getwell cards were signed for a number of members.

Reports were read by Mrs. W. F. Gillespie, treasurer, and Mrs. J. B. Work, secretary, who also read a letter of appreciation for Christmas gifts sent by the group to Orient State School. Mrs. Caldwell reported on the Ohio Farm Bureau meeting in Circleville at which Governor James A. Rhodes was guest speaker. A discussion of the governor's issues followed. Medicare and Elder care differences were explained and discussed.

"Washington" by James Russell Lowell and an excerpt from "Lincoln: The Man of the People" by Edwin Markham was read by Miss Lucille Blake.

The next meeting will be held Mar. 22 at the Pickaway County Grange and 4-H Club Building. Mrs. Eugene P. Hanson will be chairman of hostesses.

Assisting Mrs. Siegle were, Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey, Mrs. Orlean Hines, Mrs. Jessie Buskirk, Mrs. Charles Morrison, Mrs. Homer Reber, Miss Gladys Vause and Miss Cleona Dunkel.

Dear Abby: Face the Music, Man!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This morning I opened my glove compartment to get something, and I saw the bundle of Christmas cards I had promised my wife I would mail a few days before Christmas. They were all stamped and addressed. Should I drop them in the mailbox now or not? Should I tell my wife I forgot to mail them and take the consequences? She doesn't have red hair for nothing.

PLUM FORGOT
DEAR PLUM: Don't mail them now or your friends will think you are rushing the season for 1965. Get yourself a crash helmet and a nose guard and tell yourredhead the awful truth.

DEAR ABBY: On one of my husband's recent trips, he purchased a painting of a nude woman. When he brought it home, he explained that it was a very "good" painting. I told him I didn't have any doubt about how "good" it was, but I didn't want it hanging in my home. I have since asked several friends how they felt about the painting and the majority of them said they saw nothing offensive about it. I still feel, however, that I would be embarrassed if certain friends visited us and saw that painting. My husband says that as long as WE like it, we should not worry about people who might be offended. What is your opinion?

GLENDAL
DEAR GLENDAL: Don't shift the blame to "certain friends." When you first saw the painting you said you didn't want it hanging in your home. Apparently you were offended. You and your husband share the same home and should hang paintings you both enjoy.

DEAR ABBY: After a hectic day in my beauty salon I was ready to put up this sign, "NO CHILDREN ALLOWED." They nearly wrecked my place, and me with it. I called my sister, who is very good at writing poems, and asked her if she would write something for me to post in the shop. I thought others might appreciate it:

"Bless the little children.
We love them like our own.
Nothing could be sweeter
When they are left at home.

"While working on their mothers
It's more than we can stand
To have the little cherubs

Various Assets For Homemaker

By ELEANOR ROSS
Maybe last year's income tax cut didn't exactly revolutionize your way of living, but there were a lot of little things that made our days easier, prettier, gayer and cleaner, so far as the home is concerned.

Let's look at a few of the homemaker's new assets.

For instance, there's a new way to keep warm: The electric blanket took a space-age leap, dispensing heat the same way that astronaut clothing does—by circulating warm water through vinyl tubing woven into the fabric. This machine-washed blanket requires no wires.

Then, along came a nicer way to shampoo (and bathe the baby), if hard water is your bane. On the market is a spray hose, attachable to any faucet, which has a nozzle containing a lifetime supply of water softener.

And how about the new look for floors—the plastic tiles that look like bricks, complete with mortared interstices? These tiles give a patio appearance to any room and can be suds-scrubbed repeatedly.

Fiberglass bedsprads came on the market in new and lovely colors, which take to the washing machine as successfully as sheets.

Also new are floor-dusting mops made double the ordinary size to cover twice the area in one swipe. The nylon heads, in a variety of gay colors, are quick and easy to wash and dry.

Last fall, something marvelous for children's clothing was introduced — a cotton fabric treated to look just like leather and made up into handsome garments that are machine-washable. The coats and jackets are really pleasing, both to parents and young'uns.

And for mother, a new slip came on the scene. Worn under woolen and heavy fabrics this garment—a slip-with-sleeves—is designed to give all-over protection for sensitive skins. Now in stores everywhere, the slip suds as easily as the conventional variety.

And for the menfolk, socks come with adjustable "belts" to hold them up. They are machine-washable and -dryable. These are just a few of the items that have brightened our living. They are due for even more popularity this year as distribution widens.

Solon Asks for Negro Vote Right Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William Stanton, R-Ohio, has joined a group of Republican governors, senators and House members asking President Johnson to move "and move promptly" to assure protection of Negro voting rights.

The group said in a statement Tuesday that the need for new voter registration laws has been pointed up dramatically by what they called the Rev. Martin Luther King's crusade in Selma, Ala. Stanton, of Painesville, Ohio, is a freshman congressman representing Ohio's 11th District.

Groucho Marx Daughter Is Hit with New Record

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To the burgeoning list of second-generation performers add the name of Melinda Marx, 18, lovely daughter of Groucho.

Like Peter Ford, son of Glen Ford and Eleanor Powell, and Gary Lewis, Jerry's offspring, Melinda is striving to make her mark in the pop music field.

Disc jockeys are lending a helping hand by playing her record, "The East Side of Town." Melinda is a brunette with the startling Italianate beauty of a petite Sophia Loren. She can also sing, a fact that might prove a liability in today's world of nonmusic. Nevertheless she is willing to gamble on her talent and go it alone.

She says she won her record contract without the use of her father's famous name.

"I was dating a man who was under contract to Penthouse Recordings, of which Pat Boone is the president," she explained. "My friend suggested I try out for a contract, too. Norman Ratner, who auditioned me and later produced my record, didn't even know who my father

Miss Conley, Mr. Hadley Exchange Vows

Miss Karyn Sue Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haston Conley, Columbus, and Mr. Eugene Hadley, Muncie, Ind., were united in marriage Feb. 11 in Yorktown, Ind.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Frances Palm, 157 Watt St., and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Conley, Pontious Lane. She is a 1962 graduate of Whitehall Yearling High School and MATA College of Automation and was employed as an IBM operator for the State Department of Taxation.

Mr. Hadley is a graduate of Central High School. He served four years in the U. S. Air Force and is presently employed by Space and Air in Muncie, Ind.

The couple resides in Muncie.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Herman M. Porter, Mt. Sterling, were among the guests at a dinner given Saturday evening by Jerry Razor, staff announcer of a Columbus TV station. The event was held in a Washington Court House restaurant preceding the Ohio Junior Miss Pageant in Xenia.

The seasonings for Beef Stroganoff may be varied by adding dry or prepared mustard, tomato paste, catchup or Worcestershire sauce to the beef and sour cream.

Adding cream of tartar to the egg whites when you are preparing soufflé, usually helps the soufflé stand up a little longer than usual while it is being served.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — YU 3-5731

Girl Scout Thinking Day was observed Sunday in Ashville with a program in the Ashville Elementary School auditorium. The annual event was attended by 250 Girl Scouts, parents and friends. Mrs. James Irwin served as chairman for the program.

The event opened with a procession of all the Brownie and Girl Scouts and their leaders. The Rev. William H. Shertz of the Methodist Church gave the invocation. Cadette Troop No. 253 presented the flag ceremony. All of the girls sang, "O Beautiful Banner".

Mrs. Irwin introduced Miss Ruth Schollenbarger as the guest speaker.

Miss Schollenbarger is executive director of the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council. She related her many experiences in Scouting which included camping with Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts in America.

A pageant, "Milestones," was presented in seven episodes, based on the life of Juliette Low, from the time of her birth in 1860 to the present. Narrator for the tableau was Senior Scout Madeline Forquer.

Taking part in the pageant were Brownies from Troop 1389 with Mrs. Joy Kuhn and Mrs. Mildred Duckworth, leaders; Brownie Troop 1384, Mrs. Robert Glick and Mrs. J. C. Hyde, leaders; Junior Troops 730, Mrs. James Irwin and Mrs. Glenn Parsons, leaders; 409, Mrs. Chester Peters and Mrs. Acher Stewart, leaders; 238, Mrs. Gene Tosca and Mrs. Jerry Trego, leaders; Cadette Troop 253, Mrs. Tom Purcell and Mrs. John Sabine, leaders; Senior Troop 772, Mrs. William Trimble and Mrs. Joe Vause, leaders.

A representative from each troop presented the Troop's contribution to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. The program closed with the Girl Scout Chorus singing, "These Things Shall Be." This chorus also presented the music during the tableau.

Mrs. William Trimble presented five Senior Girl Scouts with 10-year pins. These girls started their Scouting as Brownies in the second grade of school.

They are now seniors at Teays Valley High School. Receiving the pins were: Joyce Miller, Patsy Welsh, Terry Trimble, Lucy Ann Vause and Madeline Forquer.

Neighborhood chairman, Mrs. John Sabine, presented a five-year pin to Mrs. Harry Rife Jr. Mrs. Jesse Miller received a 10-year pin. Punch and cookies were served from a decorated tea table centered with a bouquet of yellow flowers. Hostesses were the Scouts from Senior Troop 772.

A 4-H Club is now being organized in Ashville for girls ten years and older. Projects in cooking and sewing will be under the direction of Mrs. William Lockard.

The next meeting will be held in the music room of the Ashville Elementary School, 7:30 p. m. Mar. 8. Girls wishing to join are welcome to attend this meeting.

The Ashville - Harrison PTA met Feb. 18 in the school auditorium. The flag ceremony was presented by Larry Fox and Richard Guthrie, members of Boy Scout Troop 159.

Devotions for the evening were given by Rev. Henry Giese of the St. Paul Lutheran Church.

President Mrs. Robert Guthrie presided during the business meeting. Secretary and treasurer reports were given by Mrs. Ralph Cummins and Mrs. Harold Peters. Mr. Irwin reported on the repair being made on the loud speaker system.

The group voted to sponsor a girl and boy again this year to attend the Girls State at Capital University and the Boys State at Ohio University in Athens.

Mike Schiff, Gary Tosca and Jeff Helser presented a brass trio instrumental selection. These boys are students of Mr. William Pangburn, band director.

Everett Mehrley, vocal music instructor, presented interesting and beautiful pictures of his trip this past summer. He accompanied the Capital University Choir to Japan, China, The Philippine Islands, Alaska and Hawaii.

The attendance award was won by the seventh grade.

The Harrison Twp. Volunteer Fire Department was called to the home of Clark Neff Jr. on Feb. 19 when a furnace motor ignited. Loss was estimated at $50. On Feb. 22 the firemen answered a call to the firehouse. A truck belonging to Larry's Refuse Haulers was on fire.

A little girl, Tamara Kay, was welcomed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pangburn on Feb. 18. "Tammy" was born Feb. 2.

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple 366 will conduct a hat party in the K of P Hall 8 p. m. Mar. 2. The public is invited.

Members of the Temple will conduct a short meeting at 7:15 p. m. The hat party will follow. Friendship night will also be observed.

Wordage Up

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An item which appeared recently in the Arkansas Statesman informed the public:

"The creation of the world is told in Genesis in 40 words. The Ten Commandments have 297 words, and the Declaration of Independence has 1,821 words. But a government pamphlet required 2,500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seed."

Presidential Safety Eyed

Call for Added Facilities Coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cabinet committee on presidential safety is expected to recommend shortly that more money, manpower and investigative authority be devoted to the protection of presidents.

The commission, it is understood, will reject proposals that the responsibility for guarding the life of the president be shifted from the Secret Service to the FBI or some other agency.

Informed official sources said the four-man group headed by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon also has reached substantial agreement on other problems of presidential security and will deliver its report to the White House shortly.

The Cabinet committee was named by President Johnson last Sept. 28. The Warren Commission, in its report that day on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, urged that such a body be established to review and oversee presidential protective activities.

In addition to Dillon, whose department embraces the Secret Service, the members are Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency and McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security affairs.

The White House is expected to make the report public, since the findings will have a significant bearing on the action to be taken by Congress on pending and proposed protective measures.

Government sources have indicated that these will be among the recommendations:

— Legislation making it a federal crime to attempt the assassination of a president or vice president of the United States.

This proposal was embodied in several bills in the last session of Congress. Some officials believe it could be enacted quickly if recommended by the President and the Cabinet committee.

A substantial manpower build-up for the Secret Service. — Greatly improved liaison between the Secret Service and the FBI and other federal investigative agencies, without shifting to the FBI any major Secret Service responsibility.

— A massive step-up in the service's protective research section — the unit which seeks to spot potential assassins in advance.

'Mary Poppins' Nominated for 13 Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Mary Poppins" scored in 13 categories when nominations for Motion Picture Academy "Oscars" were announced Tuesday. "Becket" and "My Fair Lady" scored 12 each.

The 37th annual awards derby was off to a fast start with the three films in close contention. "Hush," "Hush, Sweet Charlotte," and "Zorba the Greek" trailed with seven nominations each and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" captured six.

The most startling upset in the selections was the omission of Audrey Hepburn among nominees for best actress. Most observers had expected her to be named for "My Fair Lady."

Julie Andrews, who originated the role of Eliza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady" but lost out in the film version to Miss Hepburn, was nominated for "Mary Poppins." Another musical performer, Debbie Reynolds, was named for "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

They were joined by three dramatic actresses: Anne Bancroft for "The Pumpkin Eater," Sophia Loren for "Marriage Italian Style" and Kim Stanley for "Seance on a Wet Afternoon."

The race for best performance by an actor had a strong British accent.

The nominees: Richard Burton for "Becket," Rex Harrison, "My Fair Lady," Peter O'Toole, "Becket," Anthony Quinn, "Zorba the Greek," Peter Sellers, "Dr. Strangelove."

Quinn was the only non-Englishman among them. Three of the nominees for best supporting actor are British subjects: John Gielgud, "Becket," Stanley Holloway, "My Fair Lady," and Peter Ustinov, "Topkapi."

They were joined by two Americans — Edmund O'Brien for "Seven Days in May" and Lee Tracy for "The Best Man."

Two great ladies of the English theater were in the race for best supporting actress — Gladys Cooper for "My Fair Lady" and Edith Evans for "The Chalk Garden."

Also nominated for best female support: Grayson Hall, "The Night of the Iguana"; Lila Kedrova, "Zorba the Greek," and Agnes Moorehead, "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte."

Nominated for best picture of 1964 were "Becket," "Dr. Strangelove," "Mary Poppins," "My Fair Lady" and "Zorba the Greek."

Directors selected for the Oscar balloting are Peter Glenville, "Becket"; Stanley Kubrick, "Dr. Strangelove"; Robert Stevenson, "Mary Poppins"; George Cukor, "My Fair Lady," and Michael Cacoyanis, "Zorba the Greek."

The best song of the year will be selected by academy voters from this field: "Chim Chim Cher-ee" from "Mary Poppins," "My Kind of Town" from "Robin and the Seven Hoods" and the title songs from "Dear Heart," "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte" and "Where Love Has Gone."

The Oscars will be handed out amid the usual hoopla April 5 at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. Bob Hope will be doing the honors.

Aerospace Industry Seeks New Frontier as U.S. Orders Decline

EDITOR'S NOTE — With fewer defense contracts, the leaders of the nation's aircraft-aerospace industry look to the development of new commercial planes and new frontiers of science to keep the industry busy in the years ahead. AP business news writer Roger Lane reports on talks with industry leaders in the following story, second in a four-part series.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Assuming progressively lower national defense budgets, the aerospace industry at best will remain stable, quite possibly decline," said Dudley Browne, group vice president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

"But major problems remain Viet Nam, Cuba, the Berlin corridor, Africa, the Middle East, China and in South America. It is hard to foresee what today's assumptions may look like tomorrow."

Browne noted the industry also is nourished by important commercial demand and stands on frontiers of science and invention that conceivably could lead to big-scale exploitation of the oceans and electronics applications.

His view typifies industry reaction to recurrent talk of a major shrinkage in the offing for the nation's 1.1-million man, $20-billion a year aircraft-aerospace complex.

A management consultants firm foresaw recently a 15 per cent cutback in government work by 1970, and one estimate envisioned a 25 per cent cutback. Relaxed international tensions and a downward drift in arms spending were cited.

Uncle Sam is the industry's No. 1 customer, accounting for about 85 per cent of revenues, but nongovernment business is growing.

Head men at the Boeing Co. and Douglas Aircraft Co., ranking one-two as commercial plane builders, in interviews begged off prophecy on future defense spending. They stressed expanding horizons of civil passenger and cargo flight.

Boeing's order backlog is over 60 per cent commercial, Douglas' about 45 per cent commercial.

"We're quite bullish," said Donald W. Douglas Jr., As president of Douglas he directs a company on the rebound from a severe wrenching that has left employment and sales at roughly one half the levels of the mid-1950s.

In a major gamble, Douglas has just entered a DC9 short-to-intermediate-range jet airliner in competition for a market estimated at up to $2 billion and 1,000 planes over 10 years.

The $3-million 56- to 90-passenger craft would be mostly for feeder airlines. The British Aircraft Corp. already is selling a plane for this service, and Boeing probably will bring out a model for the same market.

Of gloomy forecasts for the industry, a Boeing official observed that the company was founded in 1916, and added:

"If at any time in the past 50 years you had asked 'what will you be making five years from now?' the answer would have to have been, based on programs in progress, 'Of course, we'll be broke.'"

Underscoring the same point, Browne enumerated seven major programs Lockheed is seeking totaling possibly $12 billion in future business, mostly in areas a layman would regard as visionary.

Included were a 2,000-mile-an-hour commercial airliner, two military transport-cargo craft, an armed helicopter, an intercontinental missile, a space laboratory, and a rocket.

Despite a fat current backlog of business Lockheed was backing up its bids with huge money and manpower investments, knowing much of the spending would avail nothing in gambles that at best would land two or three sizeable jackpots of business — or maybe none.

Browne said that over three years Lockheed had laid out $75 million of its own funds, beyond receipts from government study contracts, to position itself to compete for business now in hand or soon to be awarded.

The company in the last three years has had an average of 300 engineers and designers working on its concept of a supersonic transport, the plane intended to cut transatlantic travel to 2½ hours in the 1970s.

The sales potential is thought by some to amount to at least 200 planes at $40 million apiece. Since early 1963, Lockheed has kept up to 700 engineers and technicians toiling on a military transport proposal.

The craft, capable of carrying 600 armed troops or 120 tons of cargo at 600 miles an hour, could bring $750 million or more in development contracts and production orders in the $1-billion to $2-billion range.

Boeing is working just as feverishly and at similar cost to land both contracts. Also zeroing in on the military plane is

Development Plans Chief Is Replaced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred P. Neuenschwander, director of the Ohio Department of Development, said today that Frank Groschelle of Columbus will become director of the department's planning in about 30 days.

Groschelle, who has been assistant director of the division for two years, will succeed Charles W. Wiesler, who has resigned.

Neuenschwander denied reports there was a "major shakeup" in the department as the result of the resignation of Wiesler and others. Robert McBride, who has been in charge of the art department resigned to go into private business, and Jerry Chapman, a member of the planning division staff, quit to go with the Tennessee planning Commission.

Most forest fires in the United States are caused by incendiaries, debris burners and careless smokers, in that order.

PACIFIED—A student pacifist is "removed" from the U.S. federal building in St. Louis during a sit-in protesting U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam. The "remover" is Deputy U.S. Marshal Duane Cadwell, and the sitter-in is Eric S. Blanchard. He refused to get up off the floor.

Lie Detector Use in Hiring Is Deplored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lie detector tests as a condition of employment violate the right of privacy guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution, Mike Gold of Akron, secretary treasurer of the United Rubber Workers asserted Tuesday.

"They are based on the premise that all men are untrustworthy until proven innocent by a machine," he told a Ohio Senate Commerce and Labor Committee hearing.

Gold testified in support of a bill to ban employer use of what he called "lie boxes." Sen. Ed Garrigan, R-Summit, sponsored the measure.

Gold warned that innocent subjects flunking lie detector tests because of being "just plain scared" could become potentially unemployable.

The union official stressed that the labor movement does not desire to protect crooks, liars, cheats and the like.

"What we do believe," he continued, "is that there are better ways to check a person than to wire him electric chair-like to a lie box. If a man has a police record or is a chronic liar there are ways a personnel director can find out. It may take 'leg work' but it will certainly protect the innocent from abuse and smears."

'Cleaned' Canary Not Singing Now

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. F. A. Farham figures her canary named Joey Boy got a dirty deal.

The telephone rang as she was vacuuming his cage. She wheeled to pick up the phone and — whoosh — up the vacuum cleaner nozzle went Joey Boy.

Mrs. Farham jerked the bag open, grabbed her canary and shook off a little of the dust. Joey Boy still was unrecognizable, so she put him under the faucet.

Then, to be sure the bird didn't catch cold, she put him under her hair drier.

"He hasn't been singing since then," Mrs. Farham said Monday, "but he's eating well."

MAKES IT DOWN—A fire-fighting helicopter hovers overhead as the controversial F-111, formerly the TFX, lands at Fort Worth, Tex., after about half of a scheduled one-hour test flight. The pilot came down when he discovered the wing flaps weren't working. The 1,650-mph. plane is both fighter and bomber, has been termed world's best warplane.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new element, despair, may become the deciding factor for the United States in Viet Nam, a country beginning to look like a comic opera.

It has cost the United States hundreds of lives and billions of dollars to back South Viet Nam in the war against the Communist guerrillas ever since 1955 when the government there asked for help.

But that government, headed by President Ngo Dinh Diem, is gone and in the 16 months since he was assassinated there have been at least eight new governments.

They actually change hands over night, as they did in the past few days. Old leaders get bounced, new leaders take over. The new leaders become the old leaders, and they get bounced.

The changes haven't come from the people but from the ambitious generals whom Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate's Democratic leader, calls the "jealous generals."

Meanwhile, there's supposed to be a war going on against the guerrillas and the United States is standing by with men, guns and planes, waiting to get on with it.

While it waits, the United States can't duck the basic question: How can it get on with the war if the Vietnamese leaders are more taken with shoving one another around than shoving the guerrillas around?

The war has been going from bad to worse, steadily, and here there is divided opinion on what to do: step up the war against the Reds, don't step it up but just go on helping the South Vietnamese, or get out.

Unless the Vietnamese begin showing an earnest interest in preventing a Communist takeover, the reaction in this country almost inevitably will be despair that the Vietnamese can be helped or are worth helping.

In getting into this fight the United States has given a couple of reasons, one idealistic — to help the Vietnamese preserve their independence, and the other realistic — to prevent communism from taking over all Southeast Asia.

Ohio Bell's Reply Asked By PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission has given the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. 15 days in which to reply to a complaint filed by the city of Cleveland.

Cleveland, in a brief filed last month, contends the utility has failed to reduce its rates for interstate toll service within the state of Ohio.

The city contends, among other things, that:

1. The amount of return on the company's interstate toll operations is excessive.

2. Rates over comparable distances for intrastate toll messages within Ohio are higher than the rates for interstate toll messages where state boundaries are transcended.

3. The Federal Communications Commission recently ordered a $1 million annual reduction in interstate rates. Intrastate toll rates also should be reduced because many of the cost savings and income producing factors are common to all toll operations.

4. Direct dialing of toll numbers has reduced costs of long distance service, both interstate and intrastate.

5. Present intrastate toll rates authorized for Ohio Bell adversely affect the commerce and industry of Cleveland and the disparity in rates constitutes discrimination.

A commission spokesman said a hearing in the matter is likely.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower once explained that the farther communism advances the more the United States would have to pull its defenses back toward the American shores.

But the idealistic reason will be rendered ridiculous if the Vietnamese show themselves incapable of orderly government and more concerned with factional disputes than saving themselves from communism.

And the realistic reason — using American forces to fight the guerrillas in Viet Nam — will look more and more like colonialism and aggression if the South Vietnamese themselves are indifferent about the Reds.

There is a view that the United States should step up the war against the Reds, if necessary, to show them this country won't yield and when this has been done, work out a settlement with them.

But even if the United States tried that it could not escape this bitter thought: if there is no stability in South Viet Nam:

If a settlement is worked out with the Reds it can only mean an eventual Communist takeover if South Viet Nam disintegrates further and no real government is possible there.

Steel Mills Press for Skilled Help

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite determined efforts, the steel plants in the Chicago-Gary, Ind., area are still plagued by a shortage of skilled workers. But help is on the way.

Industry officials, unable to recruit workers in and around Gary, where only 2 per cent of the labor force is unemployed, have stepped up hiring efforts in Cook County — Chicago — where more than 265,000 persons are on relief rolls.

Eighty-five per cent of the welfare recipients are Negro and most of them don't have the high school diplomas the steel industry has required.

Two industry giants, U.S. Steel and Inland Steel, have lowered education requirements and are seeking employees from such groups as the Chicago Urban League, the Illinois State Employment Service and the Cook County Department of Public Welfare.

"We're going after them from every available source," William G. Caples, a vice president of Inland Steel, said Monday in an interview. "We're not holding to the higher standards."

Job testing at Inland, Caples said, only "calls for basic literacy and the ability to handle simple hand tools."

Inland and U.S. Steel spent thousands of dollars last fall recruiting in the Midwest and Pennsylvania. Both companies say the programs were disappointing.

"Recruiting has problems that are hard to solve," said

Caples, "and the biggest one is transportation."

Freeze Your Own

NEW YORK (AP) — Marking a boom in artificial ice-skating rinks, 500 have been built in the U. S. during the past few years, with several thousand more in view over the next decade.

That's the word from Steelways, publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, which points out that the standard rink uses 10 or 11 miles of steel pipe to carry refrigerant.

The publication estimates that 60,000,000 Americans skated in this country last year. There are now more than 700 artificial ice rinks.

Inland's best source for employees in recent months, he said, has been the Chicago Urban League.

"The people we've gotten are working out all right, but we haven't gotten many," he said. "This morning we had 382 open requisitions (jobs) at Indiana Harbor (which employs 21,000)."

A spokesman for U.S. Steel said the company has stepped up in-plant training programs because "we still need skilled laborers and there just aren't enough to go around."

To help meet the demand, the Chicago School Board and the Cook County Welfare Department have increased vocational training and adult education courses.

Cancer Crusade Members Sought

Members of the Pickaway County Chapter, American Cancer Society, today reminded area citizens of a two-week campaign now under way to recruit "cancer crusaders" throughout Central Ohio.

The campaign is being spearheaded by Spook Beckman, Channel 4 television personality, on his "Coffee Club" program. Each day he will give a special number to call to join the "crusaders." A running total will be maintained, with names posted each day.

The recruitment is in preparation for the yearly Cancer Fund drive scheduled April 24-30 to raise money that is used to help control the dreaded disease.

How many women begin drying clothes automatically with a flameless electric dryer?

8 out of 10!

Flameless electric clothes dryers are first choice of 8 out of 10 women in this area! If you've never owned an automatic clothes dryer, that's a good buying hint for you. In fact, 1,011 women in The Electric Company area recently compared clothes dryers, feature for feature*, and they gave lots of reasons why electric dryers are preferred: the way electric dries clothes fluffier and cleaner... quicker... and cooler... lasts longer... and costs less to buy! It's true! Flameless electric dryers do cost less to buy, so you save from the start! See the new models at your appliance store soon! Every day, more people give more reasons for going electric!

Extremely 'Stiff' Training Given Marine Raiders

KINBLUE BEACH, Okinawa (AP) — The wind snapped at the young Marine on the face of the sheer, 100-foot cliff. The rifle on his back seemed to weigh a ton.

Inch by inch he climbed toward the top. Below him blue waves creamed to white on the rocky beach. He reached the top, grasped a heavy root and pulled himself over.

A lean sergeant wearing a black and green camouflage suit barked in his ear: "Move out, move out!" The Marine unsling his rifle and jogged up the steep slope before him. Behind came more Leathernecks.

The Marines are legendary for ruggedness but few match men like these undergoing the punishing raid school. Selected companies from each battalion in the 19,000-man 3rd Marine Division based here are given the intensive three-week course.

The ruggedness of the school is epitomized in its motto: "Death, Destruction, Harassment." Its war cry is "Yamahozza," loosely translated from the Japanese as "Praise death."

The school here is fairly new and much of its work is classified. But the key mission is to place men on an enemy beach and secure it.

In time of war, submarines would put the men into black rubber boats 12 miles or more from the objective.

Before the boats arrived, scout swimmers would slip into the beach area for reconnaissance. Once the raiders, seven men to a boat, were on the beach, combat equipment would be removed and the rubber boats buried.

If steep cliffs faced the raiders, the best climber would be sent up. He would sink six hooks on a steel ring into the ground at the top, fasten a rope to it and throw the line down to the others.

Once on top the raiders would set out for their mission. They are trained in demolition work, reconnaissance and guerrilla warfare. They also are experts at knife fighting and hand-to-hand combat.

Capt. Thomas W. Rich Jr., Vista, Calif., heads a crew of 10 instructors, all experts in one or more phases of the raid school.

Along with conditioning, the men are taught to be absolutely confident in themselves. One of the best confidence builders is a device called "slide for life." A man stands on a tiny platform 70-feet above the beach. Before him stretches a cable that is anchored in the ocean 450 feet away. He must hurtle down the cable on a pulley, across the beach and into the water.

When the men think they are getting pretty tough, the instructors put them in the "bear pit." Two four-man teams jump into the pit six-feet deep and about six-feet across. The object is to throw the other team out. To make the contest more interesting, the instructors fill the bottom of the pit with soft sand and a foot of water.

A key part of the raider's training is in making helicopter assaults. This is part of the Marine-developed "vertical envelopment" tactic of dropping men rapidly from helicopters around an enemy.

Night helicopter assaults and forced marches through areas similar to what might be found in South Viet Nam are stressed in the final phases of the training.

The training is rough on the raider trainees, but the instructors take the same pounding — only they take it for 12 solid months. When one company finishes the three-week course, in comes another.

Atlanta Cafe Integrated; Business OK

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An Atlanta restaurant, closed by Lester Maddox because he did not want to serve Negroes, was integrated on the first day it opened under new management.

Unable to continue his policy of segregation because of a federal court order, Maddox leased the Pickrick restaurant to two former employees. The court fined him $200 for each day his restaurant remained open on a segregated basis.

The new management took over Monday and Jack Googer, 49, was the first Negro to eat in the restaurant, now named the Gateway.

Googer, a tailor had been turned away from the restaurant Feb. 7 when it was still under Maddox' management. Maddox closed his business that day rather than serve Negroes.

Googer said he is not a member of any civil rights organization. "I came on my own" he said.

The new operators, Roy G. Duncan and Edward Piper, said business was brisk.

This dam in Southeast Asia is typical of the many hydroelectric power facilities which are being designed to solve human problems in terms of electric power generation.

National Engineers' Week

Engineers Redesign Earth To Solve Need Problems

The Dallas - Fort Worth area in Texas is the largest metropolitan center in the U.S. not having water access to a major seaport. How can this heavily populated and industrial area over 250 miles inland ever achieve a water route to the Gulf of Mexico and the ocean commerce of the high seas?

Engineers say the Trinity River flowing from just above Fort Worth and Dallas to the Gulf of Mexico near Houston can be made to carry heavy barge traffic. And, while this is being accomplished, a series of flood control and irrigation dams can be designed and constructed which will greatly increase agricultural and industrial development throughout the entire Trinity River Basin.

This massive program for utilizing modern engineering technology to solve human needs in commerce, flood control, irrigation, and water recreation will be on the rivers and harbors agenda of this session of the Congress. It is another example of how our legislators are turning more and more to technological solutions to problems in national economic growth. Like the St. Lawrence Seaway and the great irrigation and hydroelectric power dams of the Western States, the Trinity River project will change the economic character of an entire region.

If such technological application is important for economic growth in the U.S., it is far more so in the underdeveloped nations in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The people in those countries can see unsolved technological problems everywhere they look. Their needs range through modern roads and highways, railways, bridges, port facilities, and airports, to dams, sanitary systems, adequate housing, educational and research buildings, irrigation systems, and electric power stations — all things that cannot be had outside the framework of engineering knowledge.

Each of the developing nations has these needs. Their history since the end of World War II has been essentially a history of how rapidly and effectively they have been able to solve problems in transportation, power supply, education and training, housing, and general industrialization. Failure in any one of these key areas puts severe strains on the government in meeting the needs of the people.

U.S. consulting engineers overseas have been prime movers in this kind of problem-solving for the emerging nations. Thailand, for example, has no appreciable amount of coal or oil, both vital resources for industrial growth. Large deposits of lignite, however, were found in Krabi Province in the Southern coastal section. This geologically immature "coal" can be used in electric power generation. An American engineering firm designed a power plant to furnish the electricity needs for full-scale lignite mining operations. This led to the design and construction of a highway through heavy jungle, and a river freighter wharf near the power plant site. American engineers have subsequently designed a network of high voltage transmission lines and electrical distribution systems to put the lignite-generated power to work throughout Thailand.

Similar examples of how U.S. engineering capabilities are being exported globally can be found in country after country. Engineers are confronting human needs in such far away places as Ghana, Mauritania, Gabon, Sudan, Nigeria, Liberia, Upper Volta, Iran, Pakistan, and the United Arab Republic. In one region the problem is desert drought; in another it is a devastating flood pattern; in still another, engineers must create road transportation networks across high mountain ranges.

As these new nations develop electric power generating stations, irrigation and flood control programs, and transport facilities, they go through an escalation to more complicated problems in industry and consumer needs. Designing for manufacturing plants requires a higher level of engineering know-how. Once the new nations have an industrial base, they find they need oil refineries, chemical and petrochemical plants, metallurgical and other research labs, waste treatment works, and rapid transit systems.

Ahead for these new nations lie such technologically exotic areas as electronic computers, automation, and nuclear energy — all based on engineering applications of physical science. At present, there are nearly 200 nuclear reactors operating in the U.S. Our total computer business is approaching a figure of $1 billion annually. Automated controls and machinery have had a massive effect on industry.

The modern world is a world in which the application of science is directed to solving human problems and satisfying human needs. No new nation can hope to move into full participation in this modern world without an expanding base of engineering knowledge and skill.

Tougher Teen Driver Laws Are Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Proponents of bills to toughen laws covering teen-age drivers contended Tuesday night that immaturity causes most highway accidents in which teen-agers are involved.

They testified before the Ohio House Highways Committee on five proposals which would either increase the minimum driving age, require training in driver education, or both, along with imposing certain other restrictions.

Rep. William C. Games, R-Adams, committee chairman, said all the proposals will be sent to a subcommittee for consolidation into one or possibly two measures.

Rep. David Abritton, R-Montgomery, a high school coach introducing his bill for the third straight legislative session, told committee members that permitting teen-agers to drive cars causes serious social problems as well as safety problems.

He mentioned early marriage, school dropouts, and juvenile delinquency, among others. Abritton also described himself as a strong advocate of physical fitness and said "today's youngsters don't walk enough. They don't get enough physical activity."

Abritton's bill would increase the minimum age to 18 but would allow licenses for 16 and 17-year-olds in hardship cases and for those who have completed their high school education or an approved course in driver education.

Rep. Harry McIlwain, R-Hamilton, said he has received "literally hundreds of letters" favoring his bill which would hike the minimum to 18 with exceptions made in hardship cases only.

McIlwain, a criminal lawyer and father of a 16-year-old son, stressed immaturity and said that in cases coming to his attention, "immature judgment" frequently is the cause of accidents involving youngsters.

Also testifying was Rep. Jacob A. Shawan, R-Franklin, who said his measure is designed "to protect not only youth but also the general driving public." Shawan's bill would hike the minimum age to 18 but make exceptions for high school graduates and persons who complete an approved driver education program.

His bill also would permit 16-year-olds to obtain licenses for daytime driving or when accompanied by a parent or guardian. Shawan said he favored a stepped up driver training program in particular.

Franklin County Juvenile Court Judge John Hill appeared on behalf of Shawan's bill, asserting it "would help us a lot in cutting down on juvenile delinquency."

"A young man won't ride a bus two or three miles to get into trouble," Judge Hill said.

Sales Tax Hike Bill Pondered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House Education Committee turns its attention again tonight to the initiated sales tax bill which is vying for top attention in the State Legislature.

Initial hearings on the measure two weeks ago attracted an overflow crowd, about double the turnout for first airing of the widely-publicized bill to extend bus transportation to parochial and private school pupils. The tax bill proposes a boost in the sales tax from three to four per cent to raise an additional $116 million a year for schools.

Rep. B. A. Broughton, R-Geauga, chairman of the education committee, is alternating hearings weekly on the two hot school issues which thus far have overshadowed all other pending legislation.

So-called "fair housing" legislation, another issue which figures to draw widespread attention as it did two years ago, has been introduced in the Senate and assigned to the Committee on Labor and Commerce. The date for the first hearing has not been announced.

The first appropriations bill to be acted on at this session cleared the House Tuesday by a vote of 119-0. It calls for a $7.2 million allocation to make up a school deficiency in the current biennium.

Rep. Ralph E. Fisher, R-Wayne, chairman of the House Finance Committee, told House members the deficiency had been predicted and that it resulted from "extended services, increased administration costs, and other factors."

Two other measures were passed Tuesday by the House although one squeaked through 72-56 after long debate with only three votes to spare.

The bill which now goes to the Senate would permit taking of depositions from doctors in court cases being tried in their home counties. Under present law, depositions from doctors may only be presented when he lives in another county.

Sponsors contended the measure will facilitate court processes and save the time and money of litigants. Rep. Edmund James, R-Noble, chairman of the judiciary committee, joined sponsors in defense of the proposal.

Rep. Harry McIlwain, R-Hamilton, an attorney, asserted the bill would increase the difficulty of getting doctors into court to testify.

"You have to black-jack a doctor today to get him into court," McIlwain declared.

Ohio would join 25 other states which have agencies to promote the arts under provisions of a bill which cleared the House 118-10. Rep. Stanley Aronoff, R-Hamilton, authored the proposal which calls for creation of a 15-member arts council to be named by the Governor.

The Council would survey Ohio's cultural and artistic resources, plan for their future, and "assess the role of the arts in the growth and development of the state".

More than three dozen more bills were introduced as the lawmakers reached the halfway point in their sixth work week. Among them was a modified capital punishment measure by Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, with co-sponsors.

Kurfess' measure would provide the death penalty in first degree murder convictions only when recommended by the jury. Presently, the jury is empowered only to recommend mercy.

The House also received bills to abolish mayors' courts and give their jurisdictions to county courts, provide for the service of summons on minors, designate U. S. 52 in Lawrence County the "Thomas Jenkins Memorial Highway" in honor of a former member, and increase the penalty for the illegal taking of deer.

In the latter measure, Rep. Delbert B. Jeffery, R-Paulding, proposes a fine of $100-$500 and 30 days in jail, or both, with violators forbidden to take or possess deer for a three-year period.

The Senate received 10 new bills, including proposals for a statehouse office for local governments and repeal of a law banning strikes by public employees.

Negro Wins Top Office In Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — Constance Baker Motley, Negro state senator from Harlem and a prominent civil rights lawyer, has become the first woman borough president of Manhattan.

She was named to the $35,000-a-year post a little more than a year after she entered active Democratic party politics.

Mrs. Motley, a tall and handsome woman of 43, was elected unanimously Tuesday by the Manhattan members of the City Council, six Democrats and two Republicans.

She fills a vacancy created Jan. 1 when Edward R. Dudley, a Negro and former ambassador to Liberia, was elected a state Supreme Court justice. Every borough president of Manhattan since 1933 has been a Negro.

Mrs. Motley, whose term runs until Dec. 31, said at an Albany news conference that she would seek a full four-year term next fall.

DISCUSSING WEST GERMAN RELATIONS—Meeting in Cairo, King Hussein (left) of Jordan accepts a light from Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic. Among the subjects discussed by the two Arab leaders was the UAR's relations with West Germany. The latter nation has asked Hussein to intervene for cancellation of a planned visit to Egypt of East German Walter Ulbricht. (Cablephoto)

Here's Panorama Of Week's News

EDITOR'S NOTE— Wash-day callisthenics in Arizona, an uproar on San Francisco's Telegraph Hill and an economic pinch in Montana are facets of the U.S. scene this week.

SASABE, Ariz. (AP)—O Callisthenics and cunning have become a part of wash-day chores for a group of government wives as they do battle with lofty clothes-line poles.

"Maybe it's the government's way of keeping us slim," one wife joked as she leaped to catch a line above her head.

The government decreed that seven-foot-high clothes-line poles be installed with four new homes built in this Mexican border city for immigration and naturalization officials.

E. Lewis Jones, chief immigration officer, wrote superiors: "The women can't reach the clothes lines. Something should be done about it." Back came the reply: "Slacken the lines to

Jobs for Ex-Convicts

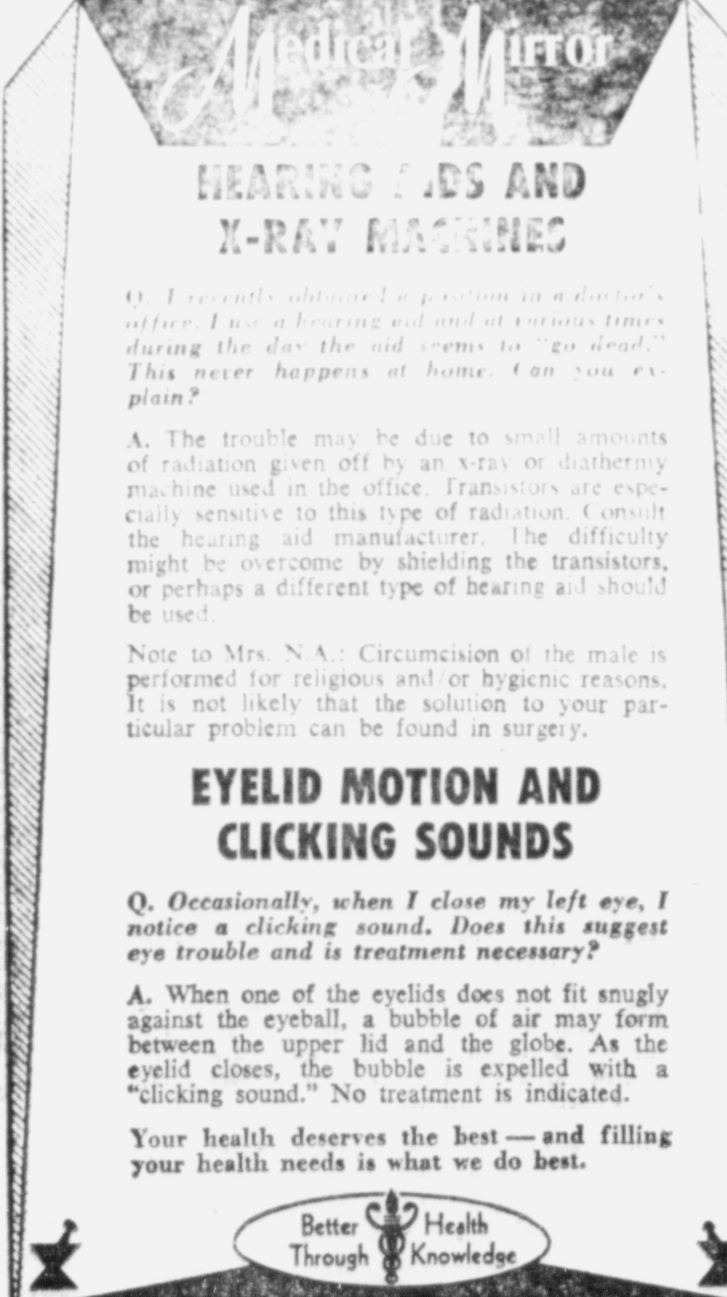

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Faced with a critical shortage of manpower, South African businessmen are breaking down traditional prejudices and are employing more and more men with prison records.

It is now far easier for a former convict to find a job than ever before. South Africa has an annual jail population of 340,000. During any one day 72,000 people of all races are behind bars. Of these 35,000 are serving terms of two years and longer.

Society's attitude towards the criminal is gradually getting better, reports J. Harley, chairman of the Pretoria Branch of the Social Services Association, which last year helped find jobs for nearly 499 former convicts.

HEARING AIDS AND X-RAY MACHINES

Q. I recently advised a patient in a doctor's office. I was a hearing aid and at various times during the day the aid seems to "go dead." This never happens at home. Can you explain?

A. The trouble may be due to small amounts of radiation given off by an x-ray or diathermy machine used in the office. Transistors are especially sensitive to this type of radiation. Consult the hearing aid manufacturer. The difficulty might be overcome by shielding the transistors, or perhaps a different type of hearing aid should be used.

EYELID MOTION AND CLICKING SOUNDS

Q. Occasionally, when I close my left eye, I notice a clicking sound. Does this suggest eye trouble and is treatment necessary?

A. When one of the eyelids does not fit snugly against the eyeball, a bubble of air may form between the upper lid and the globe. As the eyelid closes, the bubble is expelled with a "clicking sound." No treatment is indicated.

International Canal Control Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key U.S. officials are leaning toward the idea of international control for a proposed new sea-level canal across the midsection of the Americas.

Such control might be vested in a board made up of representatives of nations which contributed toward the cost of constructing and maintaining the new canal.

A major aim would be to assure that the canal was run for the benefit of all seafaring powers and that rates for using it were reasonable.

Top State Department and Army officials have visited four countries through which a new canal could run, when it replaces the present Panama Canal as the main transit for shipping between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The present canal is too narrow to handle many U.S. aircraft carriers, super tankers and other big ships.

No firm decisions have yet been made on the route, the method of construction, or the political and financial arrangements. Much diplomatic discussion lies ahead.

Officials are hopeful that engineering surveys may be started in about a year. The surveys, which may take as long as four years, would examine four possible routes — two in Panama, including the present one; one in Colombia; and one partially in Nicaragua and partially in Costa Rica.

Counting the survey time, work on the sea-level canal might cover 15 years, even if nuclear explosives were used to blast it out.

One viewpoint is that the best route might lie across the Isthmus of Panama east of the present canal. About 70 miles or so long, it would cost about $775 million to build using nuclear explosives for excavation.

However, there are indications that the political and diplomatic complexities in reaching agreement with Panama might detract from the desirability of this route.

Certain U.S. authorities have gotten the impression that Panama might try to hold out for ownership of the new canal after it was paid for, and that Panamanians would be inclined to charge as much as the traffic would bear for crossing the waterway.

STAN LAUREL

Stan Laurel, Famed Comic, Dies at 74

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Stan Laurel, the little, rubber-faced partner of the late, 300-pound Oliver Hardy in the movies' most successful comedy team, is dead of a heart attack at 74.

Victim of a stroke in 1955 and of diabetes in later years, he suffered the fatal seizure Tuesday in his bluff-top apartment overlooking the ocean. His fourth wife, Ida, was at his side. Laurel and Hardy starred in 300 films, mostly two and three-reelers, and made millions laugh.

They were the 30's slapstick kings and their films still are shown regularly on television and in theaters around the world.

Fans remember Laurel as the crop-haired, bungling yet lovable scamp, who, wearing a blank, stupid expression, inevitably brought disaster to his fat, exasperated partner.

Babe Hardy used to say Laurel was the brains of their act. Stan wrote and directed many of their films.

In a stock situation, the skinny Laurel and the rotund Hardy were at odds with authority — landlord, grim mother-in-law or chief of police. They always lost — except at the box office.

Business Briefs

The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. has reported earnings on common shares of $11,633,000 for the 12 months ending Jan. 31, 1965, compared with $10,605,000 for the same period last year.

Harry M. Miller, president, said this equaled $2.08 a share, based on 5,600,000 shares outstanding, compared with $1.89 per share in the previous 12 months.

Operating revenues for the same period were $71,422,000, indicating a 5.6 per cent gain over $67,630,000 for the 12 months ending Jan. 31, 1964.

Operating expenses climbed from $51,864,000 in the previous period to $54,978,000 in the 12 months just ended. Kilowatt hour sales of 3,503,971 were up 7.6 per cent from the previous 12-month period.

The Landmark Farm Bureau Cooperative, Columbus, had an over-all dollar volume of $84,000,000 in 1964, according to Kenneth N. Probasco, executive vice president and general manager.

Probasco's report on Landmark was made to 650 stockholders, members and others attending the company's 1965 annual meeting in Columbus.

Forty-seven per cent, or $40 million, of Landmark's total volume during 1964 was marketing business — primarily in grain, Probasco said. Landmark's grain purchases were down eight per cent from 1963, reflecting Ohio's general 15 per cent decrease in grain production because of dry weather.

Landmark's wholesale purchasing, or farm supply business, accounted for $44 million of its total business volume. Of this, 33 per cent was in feed, 28 per cent petroleum, 26 per cent seed and fertilizer, and the balance of 13 per cent general farm supplies.

Pointing out the rapid changes taking place in agriculture, Probasco commented on the highly competitive situation in the farm supply business. Landmark's chief objectives during 1964, he said, had been: (1) To strengthen local Landmark retail outlets by placing them in a better price position, and (2) To control operating costs.

Habitual Sex Offender Law To Be Enforced by Lawmen

A joint announcement today by the Circleville Police and Pickaway County Sheriff's Departments called attention to state law concerning registration of habitual sex offenders.

Police Chief Robert Temple and Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the law applies to any person convicted more than once for offenses as set forth in certain sections of the Ohio Revised Code. The statute requiring registration by convicted offenders became effective in October of 1963.

The law states that such offenders shall within 30 days of coming into any county to reside, permanent or temporary, register with the chief of police of the city or the county sheriff. They shall be required to report each change of residence thereafter for a period of 10 years after the date of release from prison or after date of conviction.

The two local law enforcement officials said subsequent changes of address must be reported to the last enforcement agency where registered. This must be done in writing and within 10 days.

IT WAS pointed out liability for registration shall terminate in 10 years from the date of the initial registration, if such person does not again become liable by conviction for a new sex offense.

Penalty for non-compliance with the registration law calls for a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than six months. For each subsequent offense, such person shall be imprisoned not less than one nor more than five years.

Radcliff and Temple said special emphasis is being placed on the registration law in view of the increase in number of assaults being committed by persons with previous records as sex offenders.

According to the Ohio Revised Code, an habitual sex offender is any person who is convicted more than once for any of the offenses set forth in these sections: 2901.24 — assault with intent to kill or to commit rape or robbery; 2901.31 — abducting for immoral purposes; 2903.01 — assault upon a minor constituting felonious assault; 2905.01 — rape; 2905.03 — rape of daughter, sister or female under 12; 2905.03 — carnal knowledge of female under 16; 2905.04 — attempt to have carnal knowledge; 2905.06 — carnal knowledge of an insane woman; 2905.07 — incest; 2905.13 — sexual intercourse with female pupil; 2905.30 — indecent exposure; 2905.301 — obscene language; 2905.44 — sodomy. Offenses under similar provisions of laws in other states also apply.

Dishwasher Is Accused

Severe Beating Of Banker Probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police held a 34-year-old dishwasher today and accused him of beating New York banker Robert Livingston Ireland III and leaving him almost naked in an alley in sub-freezing temperatures.

Ireland, 44, a member of a prominent Cleveland family was found unconscious Tuesday. He was clad only in a torn overcoat.

A partner in Brown Brothers, Harriman and Co., of New York, Ireland remained in critical condition at a Columbus hospital. He is suffering from exposure and skull fractures.

A hospital spokesman said Ireland is conscious and has talked to police. Police, however, gave no details of the talk.

They announced the arrest last night of Albert J. Johnson of Columbus and said they had charged him with assault with a weapon.

Chief of Detectives Tom Sawyer said Johnson is accused of beating Ireland in Johnson's apartment with "fists and feet."

Sawyer noted the charge read weapon, not deadly weapon.

Detectives said Johnson was on parole from a burglary sentence and had a record.

According to Sawyer, Ireland met Johnson in a bar on the city's near east side. Ireland and Johnson, accompanied by Miss Elmira Reynolds, 34, went to Johnson's apartment.

Miss Reynolds provided the information which led to Johnson's arrest, Sawyer said. The detective said she told police Johnson beat Ireland and then left him in the alley a block from Johnson's apartment. The area is a racially mixed neighborhood. Both Johnson and Miss Reynolds are Negroes.

Sawyer said Miss Reynolds denies any part in the beating and is not being held.

According to information pieced together by Sawyer, Ireland checked into a local hotel late Monday preparatory to attending a board meeting here of Ranco, Inc., an electrical control equipment firm of which he is a director.

Mrs. Ireland came here by air from New York after learning of the beating.

Ireland is also listed as a director of the M. A. Hanna Co., Cleveland, and a former officer of the New York Trust Co. and Chemical Bank of New York.

His father, R. Livingston Ireland of Cleveland, an official of the M. A. Hanna Co. and other coal and banking interests, was also at his son's bedside here.

Ireland's mother was the late Mrs. Margaret Ireland, Ohio welfare director under former Gov. C. William O'Neill.

New Basketball Season Starts Friday For Tourney Minded Viking Coach

BASKETBALL FAMILIES — Three members of the current Teays Valley High School basketball team have a cage tradition to follow. Their fathers played for high school teams that were consolidated to form Teays Valley High School. Shown here are, left to right: Doug Mallory, and his father Elmer; Harold Wilson and his son Gary; and Barney Reese, and son Dave. Reese points at the basket as he tells the group that the height of the basket is one of the few phases of the game that hasn't changed since his playing days.

By STEVE JONES

For Russ Gregg, coach of the Teays Valley High school basketball team, a new cage season begins 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Otterbein College gymnasium at Westerville.

This is when the tournament minded coach will pit his Vikings against Marion Franklin. For Gregg, and any team he coaches, winning in tournaments is a tradition.

Gregg, himself, was a member of the Ashville quintet that placed third in the state when the Viking coach was a high school senior.

Knicks Elated By New Zip

Injuries Plague 3 Other Outfits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A funny thing happened after the National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York. Everybody had troubles except the Knickerbockers.

The Knicks flattened Philadelphia 132-104 Tuesday night in the Madison Square Garden nightcap after Baltimore ended its three-game tailspin with a 121-127 victory over Cincinnati.

Harry Gallatin, the New York pilot, was as pleased as a man can be whose club is 11½ games short of a playoff spot with time running out. The Knicks, keyed by jumping Johnny Green, had stunned Philadelphia with a 34-point second quarter and won by their biggest margin since last March 8, when they buried the 76ers 140-108.

But the visiting coaches — Jack McMahon of Cincinnati, Buddy Jeanette of Baltimore and Philadelphia's Dolph Schayes — were singing the blues. McMahon and Schayes were worried about the physical condition of rebounder Jerry Lucas and backcourt ace Hal Greer, respectively. Jeanette had a bigger problem — 6-foot-10 Walt Bellamy.

Lucas, sidelined the past three weeks with a torn rib cartilage, was expected to play against Baltimore. After taking part in the pre-game drill, however, the All-Star forward begged off.

Baltimore, 4½-games up on Detroit in the battle for the third and last Western playoff berth, got little help from Bellamy, the team's leading scorer. He was on the bench for all but 14 minutes and scored only seven points — with a single field goal.

Jeannette said he'd been holding out the big pivot "for a couple of games. He's been making too many mistakes and I'm trying to cut down on the errors."

Greer, slowed by a bone bruise on his foot for the last five games, limped through a 4-for-14 shooting night against New York and wound up with 10 points — 10 under his season average.

And adding to the tournament tradition are three players on the current Teays Valley squad—Doug Mallory, Dave Reese and Gary Wilson.

BACK in the middle and late 1930s, the fathers of this trio played for schools that have since been consolidated into the modern Teays Valley building. Elmer (Red) Mallory and Barney Reese played for Ashville. Harold Wilson competed at Scioto Twp. High School.

The Ashville teams of that era went far in what was then the Class B Central District. Reese and Mallory played on a quintet that reached the finals of the district before losing.

The district games then were played in the same gymnasium the Vikings will compete in Friday — the Otterbein College gymnasium.

The record of Marion Franklin, a Columbus City League team, is an unimpressive seven wins and nine losses.

But Coach Gregg is quick to point out that at least six of the losses have been to outstanding teams in the Columbus City League.

Any Mid-American League Playoff To Be Held in Dayton

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If a playoff game is necessary to determine the Mid-American Conference representative in the NCAA basketball tournament, it will be played Monday, March 8 at the University of Dayton Fieldhouse.

MAC Commissioner Robert C. James made that announcement today and said the game would be played at 7:30 p.m. Miami currently holds first place in the torrid race with a 10-1 record with one remaining game, that against Toledo at Oxford Saturday.

Ohio University, 9-1, is at home to Kent Saturday and tangles with Toledo on the Rockets' floor March 6. If the Redskins and Bobcats win their remaining games, as expected, they'll share the championship won last year by Ohio. But the playoff is needed to pick the NCAA regional representative.

League. Many area coaches feel the CCL is as well balanced and as tough as any cage loop in the state.

PACING Marion Franklin's scoring attack is John Jackson who has been averaging 18 points per game. He is 6-5.

Another top offensive threat is Steve Jackson, a 5-10 cager who is averaging 14 points per game.

The team is big, although not flashy, according to Gregg. In addition to John Jackson, there is Debolt, who is 6-4, and Russ Mobley who is 6-7.

On defense the team uses primarily a zone defense and shows a preference for a 1-2-2. Offensively they use a double pivot attack and concentrate on trying to get the ball to the taller Jackson.

Gregg feels the top job for his charges will be stopping Jackson's and then coming up with enough offense to match that of Marion Franklin.

Teays Valley will carry a 14-3 record into the tournament at Otterbein.

THE VIKINGS are made up of four senior veterans, plus a junior, who have been scoring points at a rate of 70.4 per game.

Bill Fortner, recently named to the South Suburban League All-Star team heads the balanced Viking attack with an average of 18 points per game. The 6-4 center is also one of the leading rebounders in the strong Teays Valley front line.

Dave Reese, also a South Suburban League All-Star team member, has an average of 14 points per game. The 200-pound 6-foot forward adds ample strength to Teays Valley's rebounding game.

At the other forward slot is Mitch Clay, who at 6-2 and 180 pounds can hold his own on the boards with much larger players. Although he is averaging just under 10 points per game, he has the ability to score at a much more productive rate if Viking opponents are inclined to double team any of his mates. Clay was an honorable mention SSL choice.

The guard duo is led by Doug Mallory, a 6-0, 155 pound senior who has notched more than 11 points per game. He was a second team SSL choice.

His running mate is Gerald Green, who leads the Vikings in assists.

INITIAL bench power comes from Gary Wilson, who was a starter earlier in the year when Clay missed action because of an appendicitis operation.

Providing additional strength are Gary Lambert, a quick little guard, Gayle Fosnaugh, a 6-1 junior forward and Butch Kinsell.

Russ Gregg's cagers are basically a run and shoot team defensively. They stick strictly to a man-to-man defense which they can combine very effectively with a full-court press when they fall behind.

Pro Football Twin Bill Set

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, Detroit Lions and New York Giants return to Municipal Stadium Sept. 4 for the Cleveland Browns' fourth annual pro football doubleheader.

The program will be the same one offered last year when a capacity crowd of 82,736 turned out for the National Football League exhibition twinbill.

The Lions have appeared on every doubleheader program since Browns' President Art Modell inaugurated the feature in 1962. The Giants are coming back for their third appearance, and this will be Green Bay's second doubleheader.

Governor Pays Honor To Central State '5'

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has honored the state's only unbeaten college basketball team—the Central State Marauders.

The Ohio chief executive paid a visit here Tuesday to honor the school at a victory convocation. Rhodes told his audience he had watched Central State's progress this year and was familiar with many of the players because he had seen them when they played high school ball in and around Columbus.

Foul Line Accuracy Helps Kent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's nice to score when the other team can't and one of the best places to do that is at the foul line.

Ohio college cagers were reminded of the fact Tuesday night as one Buckeye team used the free throw mark to win and another was defeated by it.

Kent State made 16 straight foul shots in the last three minutes to defeat Akron 80-76. Kent State's Doug Sims hit 9 for 9. In all, the Golden Flashes converted 28 of 38 attempts which means before the 16 - straight streak the conversion average was a common 54 per cent.

At Grove City, Pa., Grove City's John Drew made two foul shots after the final buzzer and gave Grove City a 85-83 win over Mount Union.

In other action, John Carroll came from behind to defeat Western Reserve 84-73 in a Presidents' Athletic Conference game. Fen humiliated Allegheny of Pennsylvania 74-39. Hiram dropped Case Tech 89-64. Anderson of Indiana exploded a rally at the end to beat Ohio Northern 73-65 and Marietta's Pioneers dumped California of Pennsylvania 99-89.

Two teams will go from the sectional on to district play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus.

Top farm team i. the Yankee baseball system this season will be Toledo in the International League. The franchise was moved from Richmond last November.

Logan Elm Meets Madison South In Tournament

Logan Elm High School, seeded in the sectional tournament at Teays Valley, plays its first game 8:30 p.m. Friday against Madison South.

The Braves - Lions tilt will be preceded by the contest between Canal Winchester and University High School, slated to begin at 7 p.m.

Madison South was a 67 - 41 winner over West Jefferson in the first round of tournament play.

Two teams will go from the sectional on to district play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus.

AGAINST West Jefferson, Madison South used a 2-1-2 defense. The winners came up with a majority of the rebounds.

A common opponent played by Logan Elm and Madison South is Westfall.

In two games with their cross county rivals, Logan Elm posted a 58-53 win and a 50-47 edge.

The Lions, on the other hand, fell to the Westfall Mustangs by a 77-64 edge.

Roger Simmermon, who hauled in 22 rebounds against West Jefferson and scored 10 points, is the big man in the MS offense.

Against Westfall, he notched 37 points, well over one half the team total.

Logan Elm's scoring is paced by Rick Shaw, who has notched a total of 242 points, and Jeff Lutz with 238. Both play guard on the Braves' quintet, and are seniors.

THE FRONT line for Logan Elm is made up of junior center Darryl Reichelderfer, junior forward Don Schaal and sophomore forward Russ Merrin.

Any of these three are capable of sharing the scoring load on a given night.

In regular season play, Logan Elm finished with a 12-6 record. Madison South was 6-9.

Jucker Aide To Guide Bearcat '5'

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati is turning to Ed Jucker's long-time assistant with the hope of restoring the Bearcats' basketball glory.

Jucker resigned Tuesday as head coach, saying he did so because of family and health reasons. UC President Walter C. Langsam announced he will be succeeded by Tay Baker, Jucker's assistant since 1960. The resignation goes into effect with the end of the season.

The 46-year-old Jucker, who almost guided the Bearcats to three consecutive NCAA championships, said he will remain at UC as a teacher and director of the intramural program.

"I hardly know my family. I have four children growing up who hardly know me. They have got to come first," Jucker told a news conference after observing that "I've been living on pills."

Baker, on a recruiting trip in Pennsylvania, did not attend the conference.

In announcing his resignation Jucker, whose UC teams have a 110-28 record going into tonight's game, said the Bearcats' mediocre 1964-65 performance had nothing to do with it. UC is now 11-12 for the season—the first time it has been under .500 at this stage of the season since Jucker succeeded present Athletic Director George Smith in 1960.

Providence Loses First Tilt of Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The bomb never went off, but you can't convince Providence it wasn't a victim of fallout. The fourth-ranked Friars fell from their spot as the nation's only unbeaten major team Tuesday night, losing 71-57 to Villanova after winning 19 games.

The fallout, in fact, reached as far as College Park, Md., about 100 miles away, where Maryland edged fifth-ranked Duke 85-82. Michigan's top-ranked Wolverines survived the attack, whipping Minnesota 91-78 at Minneapolis.

Providence, whose last previous loss was to Villanova in last season's NCAA playoffs, met the Wildcats on their home floor in the Philadelphia suburb of Villanova.

That's about 15 miles from the Palestra, where only last Saturday night a bomb threat emptied the stands and delayed the St. Joseph's-Villanova game for 25 minutes. No bomb was found, the teams returned for the second half and St. Joseph's won.

Moving to their own gym, the Wildcats exploded Providence's hopes for its first undefeated season. Villanova saw a seven-point lead late in the first half dwindle to one at intermission but then erupted in the second half for the triumph.

Duke, now 18-3, had won 10 straight games and hadn't lost to Maryland in five years before the hustling Terps started to work. They grabbed a 46-28 halftime lead, but the Blue Devils rallied behind a full-court press and sliced their deficit to 72-69. That was as close as they could get, however.

Michigan extended its record to 18-2 by stopping Minnesota, the Big Ten's second-place team. Oliver Darden snapped a 52-52 deadlock with two quick baskets in less than one minute and the Wolverines won on their way.

Cazzie Russell, who scored 27 points in all, led Michigan completely out of trouble with three straight field goals that gave the winners 75-63 advantage. Oklahoma State moved closer to its first Big Eight championship, stopping Oklahoma 64-54.

Baylor slowed Texas Tech's march to the Southwest Conference crown by beating the Red Raiders for the second time this season 88-85. Meanwhile, second-place Southern Methodist moved to within one game of Tech with a 100-80 triumph over Rice.

The night's high score was a 148-79 Miami, Fla., victory over Rollins. Rick Barry of Miami, the nation's leading scorer, poured in 59 points. The nation's small college leader, Evansville, drubbed Indiana State 112-84 for its 23rd victory without a loss.

Canton, Celina Rated Top Teams In Final AP Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school basketball season's records today, and into a free-for-all battle for the state's championships which only two of the 888 entrants can win.

Canton McKinley's 18-game winners received the nod of 48 sports editors as the team favored to take the Class AA laurels, and Celina Immaculate Conception, beaten twice, was rated tops in the smaller school division.

But the ratings are just the consensus of the voters in the season's final Associated Press poll. From now on, along the lengthy tournament trail where many setups will turn in upsets, it is up to the favorites to prove their mettle against all comers.

The state is filled with teams which have stormed through the regular season without a loss, and some of them should be among the four in each division due for the title battles at Ohio State's St. John Arena March 26-27.

Chasing McKinley's Bulldogs to the wire in the poll were four clean squads, each 18-0 representing Lima Shawnee, Urbana, Cincinnati Withrow and Youngstown Boardman. Next came once-beaten Cleveland St. Ignace and Newark, 16-2. Portsmouth, 16-1, Columbus South, 16-1 and 16-2 Dayton Chaminade.

The new state champion may be somewhere in that list—but a flock of challengers will dispute it.

Batavia, 19-0 is runnerup to the Celina team in Class A, and of the others in the top 10 only fourth-ranked Minster, 18-0, has escaped the sting of defeat.

Shown are the first-place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 100-point basis, and the won-lost records of the leaders.

Chicago Police Beef Guard at Muslim Parley

CHICAGO (AP) — Police, alarmed by telephoned threats on the life of Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad, stepped up security plans today for the sect's convention in Chicago this weekend.

The calls to police came within a few hours of each other Tuesday. The first warned: "We have arrived, Muhammad will have a lively convention."

The second caller, who identified himself as John Henderson, said 100 men were coming to Chicago from New York to kill Muhammad. The caller also told police a bomb had been planted in the Coliseum, site of the convention which is expected to attract 6,000 Black Muslims.

Police said the caller indicated the bomb was timed to explode Friday or Saturday when Muhammad is scheduled to address the convention.

Telephoned bomb threats also harassed New York police and reinforcements were ordered into Harlem in an attempt to

Negro Groups Are Secretive

Little Is Known About Extremists

NEW YORK (AP) — The violence that flared in rival Negro Muslim groups in the past three days involved just two of more than a dozen organizations active in the secretive world of Negro extremism.

With the exception of Elijah Muhammad's Chicago-based Black Muslims, whose New York mosque was destroyed by an explosion and fire Tuesday, most groups of any strength have headquarters in New York.

Police in a number of major American cities indicate that extremist groups command allegiance from only a comparatively handful of Negroes.

Because the groups often refuse to say much about themselves, it is almost impossible to get accurate membership figures. Four years ago the New York Times estimated that perhaps only 2,000 of this city's one million Negroes were members of extremist groups, compared with 25,000 dues-paying members of the NAACP. The proportion is believed to be considerably less in all other cities.

Yet officials agree that the influence of extremists can, in times of crisis like last summer's riots, be out of proportion to the number of persons involved.

In New York City last summer, at least 17 black nationalist groups were members of a coordinating body called the African Nationalist Federated Council.

Most of these organizations were anti-white, and believed the American Negro could gain freedom only by linking his fate with that of rising African and Asian nations.

"The white man has never given us anything without outside pressure," said a nationalist speaker at a summer rally. "We can never get anywhere in this country by ourselves, because we are a minority. But what the white man doesn't understand is that black people are a majority in the world. We must look to people who are our color."

Business Briefs

Derrol R. Johnson, president of BancOhio Corporation, conducted the business meeting and reviewed progress during an annual meeting of directors and officers of associated banks this week in Columbus. Several local bank officials participated.

W. Braddock Hickman, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland and Mr. Barton A. Holl, immediate past president of The Ohio Chamber of Commerce, were guest speakers.

The business meeting was concluded at noon Monday and the guests journeyed to the Wigwam for lunch.

The 22 BancOhio Corporation affiliated banks were represented. Attending from Circleville Second National Bank were Durward D. Dowden, Earl W. Palm, Eugene Wilson, Charles Gerhardt, Dr. John N. Bowers, Frank L. Bowling, Alden D. Bray, Harold S. Defenbaugh, Donald E. Goodchild, Ben H. Gordon and J. B. Stevenson.

OOPS! SOMEBODY PHONED THE POLICE—James Daugherty (left) and Jerry Dillingham took a bit down on their luck in custody in San Francisco. All they were doing was robbing a bank, and it just happened that a teller phoned in to report she was ill, so word was whispered back that a robbery was in progress. When the pair emerged with a $27,000 haul, police were waiting. Daugherty and Dillingham escaped from the Canton City, Tex., lockup Feb. 7.

Secret to Getting Space Aides Is Simple: Money

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The secret to getting volunteers for such space age experiments as living on liquids is a five-letter word—money.

So far it's worked for the Medical Research Laboratory at Wright - Patterson Air Force Base here to recruit more than two dozen volunteers, nearly all college students.

The volunteers live on experimental foods, undergo prolonged confinement in a "space tank" and submit to other tests.

They get $1,000—which shrinks to $845.23 cash after federal and city income taxes and Social Security deductions. The pay scale is calculated to insure completion of the tests—you only get $1,000 if you complete the assignment.

Through seven tests, there hasn't been a dropout.

Four Ohio State University students who ended six weeks of isolation, the last three on a liquid diet, Tuesday agreed they volunteered for the money.

"We're not bleary-eyed idealists," said John T. Kelley, 25, of Willoughby.

Brooks L. Harrop, 25, of Amelin, said the $1,000 led his wife to agree to the six-week separation. He talked with her by telephone twice. She, he said, "is very glad I'm getting out."

Some volunteers are motivated in part by curiosity. Gerald Paul Petersen, 22, Euclid, for instance, is a pre-medical student at Ohio State who's fascinated by medical research and flying.

"The $1,000 was for school," he said. "The rest I did because I wanted to." He termed the isolation "a good experience."

Such confinement teaches you about yourself, said Norman H. Gary, 22, Delaware, Ohio. He said he learned patience. "I sat for three hours one night," he said, "and just watched the wall." Other times they read and played cards—they wore out two decks.

The bearded volunteers took showers for the first time in five weeks—"I scrubbed three times and stayed under the shower 35 minutes," Gary said—then had their first hot meal after six weeks on cold solid food and the flavored milk concentrate.

Shoplifting Probed

A shoplifting complaint was lodged with city police yesterday by officials at the P&W Togs and Tack Shop, S. Court St.

Store spokesmen said two women apparently were involved in the theft of two shirts. Officers said one woman talked to a clerk while the other removed the shirts. The theft was discovered after the women left the store.

Oil constitutes more than half the total tonnage of all goods transported by sea.
